GOVERNOR SULZER'S FATE MAY BE KNOWN TONIGHT

It is Understood Informal Vote Was Taken Before Adjournment Yesterday.

FINAL VOTE TAKEN IN PUBLIC

Each Member Will be Allowed Privilege of Changing Yesterday's Informal Vote at Today's Public Hearing.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 15.—It is likely that the fate of Governor William Sulzer will be known by tomorrow night.

The high court of impeachment adjourned tonight when it was said the final vote probably would be taken at an open session tomorrow afternoon. No official confirmation of this report could be obtained, however, as all the deliberations of the court today were in secret.

There was an insistent rumor that the case had progressed so far as to have reached an informal vote on the guilt or innocence of the Governor on the first article of impeachment. This article charges the Governor with falsifying his campaign statement. The names of only 32 of the 57 members of the court had been called when it was decided to adjourn, it was announced. Each member, it was said, was given an opportunity to express his opinion on the merits of the article, and the same procedure will be followed at the open session tomorrow afternoon.

Each member, it was understood, will be given the privilege of changing his informal vote at the public session tomorrow afternoon. The question as to whether Article IV of the impeachment charges should not include testimony of Duncan W. Peck and Henry L. Morgenthau, or whether the Assembly should be asked to bring an additional article covering the offenses alleged in this testimony was decided today when the court voted to admit the Peck testimony under the article as it now stands. The decision was announced at a brief public session this afternoon. It was rumored that the decision was reached by a vote of 41 to 16.

No light was thrown by the official announcement on why the Morgenthau testimony was not included under the article.

Procedure of Voting.

The procedure of taking the final vote as required by the rules of the court is as follows:

Members will be called upon alphabetically to answer to each of the eight articles in their order the following question:

"Senator (or judge), how say you, is the respondent guilty or not guilty? Not guilty, as charged in the ... article of impeachment?"

Each member will then rise in his place and answer: "guilty" or "not guilty."

The result will be announced by the clerk of the court. If two-thirds of the members present concur in the finding guilty then in similar manner the members will be called upon to answer separately the following further question:

"Shall William Sulzer be removed from his office as Governor of this State for the cause stated in the article (or articles of the charges preferred against him upon which you have found him guilty?"

"Shall William Suizer be disqualified to hold any office of honor, trust, or profit under this State?"

If all the 57 members of the court are present it will require 38 to convict.

Only newspaper men were admitted to the brief public session.

The hall outside the court room was thronged throughout the day with men and women.

When the session was prolonged beyond 5 o'clock the usual hour for adjournment a rumor spread that an attempt was to be made to obtain a final vote before adjournment. In consequence when the doors were finally opened there was a wild rush to gain admittance to the Senate chamber. The guards held back the crowds until the judges and most of the senators had filed out of the chamber.

TRIAL INTERRUPTED.

Efforts Made to Tamper With the Jury.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—Efforts to procure a jury to try Daniel Donahoe and Isaac Steifel, the lawyer and detective charged with conspiracy to defame Clarence S. Funk, former general manager of the International Harvester Company, were interrupted today by alleged revelations of an attempt to tamper with the jury.

Three jurors had been accepted by both sides when Donahoe requested an interview with Judge Pam in his chambers and there declared he had been approached by Venireman Elwood H. Leiby, who told Donahoe, he said, "he could be of use to him."

"You cannot be of any use to me, I told him," said Donahoe, "I can get on the jury and I can convict you he, insisted. I don't want any money. They are going to job you, that's all."

As a result subpoenas were issued for several persons living at Leiby's rooming house.

Attorney Forest, representing Donahoe, said the defense accepted Leiby in order that the public might not think the alleged jury tampering was the work of the defendants.

Girl Found Dead in Georgia Committed Suicide.

Thomasville, Ga., Oct. 15.—The story that Miss Dorothy Hoag whose body was found in her room at her boarding house here Monday was murdered, was abandoned today when at an autopsy a bullet was found in the skull. The authorities now are virtually certain the girl committed suicide.

FILIPINOS ARE APPOINTED

President Wilson Adds Five Natives to Governing Commission—Beginning of Administration's Plan for Independence.

Washington, Oct. 15.—President Wilson and Secretary Garrison today selected the following Filipinos to be members of the Philippine Commission:

Victorino Mapa, Jaime De Veyra, Vicente Ilustre, Vicente Singson. Mapa will be secretary of finance and justice.

The fifth Filipino commissioner will be Rafael Palma, who since 1908 has been the only native on the commission. His resignation was not accepted.

The designation of five natives to majority control of the commission of nine marks the first step in the policy of the Wilson administration aiming at self-government and ultimate independence for the Philippines. Governor General Harrison recommended the native commissioners, stating that they were among the most prominent and best educated of the political leaders.

The War Department today made the following sketches of the new commissioners, whose names will go to the Senate:

Victorino Mapa, born in Calivo province of Capiz, Island of Panay, about 59 years ago, has been an attorney at law since 1877. Has occupied the positions of register of deeds of Iloilo and mayor of the city of Iloilo and since 1901 has been an associate justice of the Supreme Court in the Philippine Islands. He visited the United States in 1904 as a member of the honorary board of commissioners to the St. Louis Exposition. In politics he is a progresista.

Jaime De Veyra, born in the province of Leyte in 1873 and educated in Manila, is a journalist and has edited newspapers in Cebu, Leyte and Manila. He has been Governor of the province. In politics he is a Nacionalista.

Vicente Ilustre, born in Batangas province, has practiced law in the city of Manila since 1904. He has never held office under the American government. He is a Nacionalista in politics.

Vecente Singson, born in Vigan, in the province of Ilocos Sur, in the north of Luzon in 1875, took his degree of bachelor of arts at Manila in 1894 and is a graduate of law of the University of Santo Tomas. He is the president of the Progresista party and its leader in the Assembly.

Rafael Palma who continues in office, was born in Manila in 1874. During the insurrection he was connected with several newspapers and was admitted to the bar in 1901 and was a member of the first Philippine Assembly from the province of Cavite. He was appointed a member of the Philippine Commission in 1908 and is a Nacionalista in politics.

In the appointments to the commission these members have been selected from the Nacionalista or majority party and two from the Progresista or minority party. Two have been appointed from the Vizayan Islands, Manila and the neighboring provinces are given two members, and one is from the Ilocano province in the north of Luzon.

STORM DOES DAMAGE.

Hurricane on Northern Atlantic Blows Fifty Miles an Hour.

Highland Light, Mass., Oct. 15.—The storm that has lashed the Cape Cod coast since Monday night increased in fury today. The wind held northeast and blew 50 miles an hour. Further damage to shipping was reported.

Two lives were lost here this morning when the barge Oakland broke away from her tug. The barge's crew of two men put out in a dory only to be swamped before they had rowed 500 yards. Life savers helpless to aid them, saw the men drown.

Nine tugs which left here with 27 barges coal laden Monday came back in today. A four masted schooner was reported in distress near Pollock Rip.

San Domingo, Dominican Republic, Oct. 15.—The Dominican government today issued a decree ordering the raising of the blockade.

BOARD FINISHES TAKING EVIDENCE

Wage Controversy Between Eastern Railroads and Conductors Nearing Close.

BOTH SIDES ARE CONFIDENT

Railroads Ask That Demands of Employes be Rejected and Insist That Lower Rate for Men is Correct.

New York, Oct. 15.—The Federal arbitration board today finished taking testimony in the wage controversy between the Eastern railroads and their conductors and trainmen.

The law requires that a decision must be announced by October 25th. The arbitrators will meet daily in private session until they reach a decision.

Both sides read briefs today. A. B. Garretson, for the trainmen, in his summing up, said the railroads had failed to prove that any of the employes' requests were not justified and scouted the railroads' suggestion that if they were compelled to take from their earnings to increase wages the public would suffer from the loss of money that should be used to improve the service.

Summing up for the railroads, Elisha Lee declared the men had not proved their case and said the granting of the requests would "sooner or later affect the general prosperity of the whole country."

In addition to demanding that employes demands be rejected, Mr. Lee submitted that:

"A lower basic rate to passenger men on all through trains making few stops is proper for the whole district.

"That monthly guarantee to passenger men be refused.

"That no combination of rules of service be so operated as to require the payment of a minimum day's wage without the railroads having an opportunity of securing a minimum day's work."

Mr. Garretson, in his rebuttal, promised that his side would abide by the decision, whatever it might be.

Will Reorganize Commerce Bureau

Washington, Oct. 15.—President Wilson has written a letter to Secretary Redfield, of the Department of Commerce, approving in its entirety the latter's plan for re-organization of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce with an annual appropriation for expenses increased from $323,300 to approximately $760,000.

It was this bureau which Mr. Redfield in his speech recently before the National Association of Lithographers explained had broad powers of inquiry into the cost of production, wages and general factory conditions of American industry and which Majority Leader Underwood in closing the debate on the tariff bill in the House referred to as the "tariff board" of the Democratic party that would investigate threats of reductions in wages after the tariff law went into operation.

Mr. Redfield's recommendations would provide that the Bureau of Domestic and Foreign Commerce should have a tariff section which would investigate whenever industrial changes shall make it essential, the cost of producing articles at the time dutiable in the United States in leading countries where such articles are produced, details of wages, comparative cost of living and general business operations abroad."

A force of 14 commercial attaches would be used under the plan to act as a supplement to the consular service. The consul office of the State Department would be required to report directly to the secretary of commerce concerning commercial matters. The commercial attaches would be accredited to certain countries but they would in some cases have districts including several countries. These commercial attaches would report directly to the secretary of commerce and would aid in the general work of the bureau of collecting information and assisting in the promotion of commerce for the United States. These attaches the secretary recommended "should be men of demonstrated commercial ability, speaking the language of the country to which they are accredited, or a language current in commercial circles there, preference being given officers of the consular service, or other branches of the executive service, and who had shown a marked ability in commercial promotion.

Secretary Redfield said today that a committee of the United States Chamber of Commerce had examined and approved the plans.

RELEASED FROM JAIL.

Charge of Poisoning Against Doctor Withdrawn.

Mc Donough, Ga., Oct. 15.—Dr. Carey A. Barron, held in jail here as a suspect in connection with the sudden death last Saturday of Mrs. Sallie L. Barron, late today was released from custody.

Analysis by an Atlanta chemist of the stomach of Mrs. Barron failed to result in the discovery of poison, and W. R. S. Mann, Dr. Barron's father-in-law, upon whose complaint the physician had been arrested, at once withdrew his charges.

"CURRENCY BILL IS SOCIALISTIC"

So Declared Former Senator Nelson Aldrich Before Currency Conference.

SAID IT IS REVOLUTIONARY

Embodied the Theories of William Jennings Bryan and an Attempt to Secure Legislation Condemned by People.

New York, Oct. 15.—Former Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, of Rhode Island, tonight attacked the Wilson administration currency bill now before Congress, which he declared embodied the theories of William J. Bryan.

He denounced the bill as unsound, socialistic and revolutionary, characterizing it as "an endeavor to secure by partisan legislation the triumph of the doctrines and principles which had received the repeated condemnation of the American people at the polls." He quoted from Woodrow Wilson's writings to indicate that the President in his earlier days had entertained ideas contrary to provisions in the bill.

"If the House bill should be enacted into a law," Mr. Aldrich asserted, "Mr. Bryan will have achieved the purpose for which he has been contending for a decade."

Mr. Aldrich's speech was delivered at the closing session of the National Conference of Curency Reform. He made no reference to the so-called Aldrich plan for currency reform. He opposed many features of the Glass-Owen Currency bill, but directed his strongest criticism at the provision dealing with the issue of government notes and providing for a central government board with supervision over the system as a whole.

Extreme Pressure.

Mr. Aldrich said "extreme pressure" was being brought to bear on Congress to enact the administration bill and that the reason given was that the adoption of the bill was necessary to fulfill promises made by the Democratic party. He traced the history of the Democratic party's attitude on the subject.

"The theory that the United States should issue currency in the form of its promise to pay," declared Mr. Aldrich, "is a populistic doctrine. It had no standing as a Democratic party principle until the advent of Mr. Bryan as its nominee for the Presidency in 1896. It was injected by Mr. Bryan into the party platform in spite of the protests of the men who had been most prominent in the party councils.

"There has been no suggestion that an attempt was to be made to revive the greenback or to adopt in legislation rejected theories of the Populist party. The Democratic candidate for the Presidency was silent upon the subject during the last campaign and he has not so far as I am aware up to this time, publicly expressed his approval of Mr. Bryan's ideas with reference to note issue. The large majority of the American people who favor sound money believed that the question of further greenback issues was settled permanently by the elections of 1896 and the following years."

The speaker characterized the administration bill's provisions for government note issue as an "emphatic condemnation of the theories of government, and the economic teachings of every great Democratic leader, from Andrew Jackson and Thomas H. Benton to Samuel J. Tilden, and Grover Cleveland.

"It is undoubtedly true," he continued, "that the support of Mr. Bryan and his followers was necessary to secure legislation upon this subject, but it is unfortunate that to secure this support it seemed necessary to

CRISIS IN MEXICO IS DRAWING NEAR

Four Judges of the Supreme Court Reported as Having Resigned.

AMERICA MAY HANDS OFF

It Is Not Generally Thought In Mexico City That Elections of October Twenty-sixth Will Be Postponed.

Mexico City, Oct. 15.—That the crisis in the relations between Mexico and the United States, which was almost reached yesterday is only temporarily delayed, is the general feeling here tonight among Mexicans and foreigners. When and how the next development will be reached is a question agitating all alike.

While American Charge Nelson O'Shaughnessy, professes to expect no reply whatever to the Washington memorandum, and the foreign office says there will be none for the time being, it is still regarded as certain that the nature of the American government's notification regarding future recognition will necessitate action on the part of the Mexican authorities.

It is not expected that the elections will be postponed, although it is admitted this is a possibility. To many it would be no surprise should Mexico return to a conciliatory attitude. The impression, which is getting ground, that other nations are inclined to fall in line with the Washington administration in the matter of future policy toward Mexico, it is argued, may tend to cause the Mexican officials to seek some ground upon which they can with dignity meet Washington half way toward an adjustment of the strained relations.

Difficult Course.

At the same time, it is acknowledged that the accomplishment of this would be difficult since the only recourse is the holding of the elections or the retention of the presidency by General Huerta, either of which would be equally distasteful to the United States. It is regarded as extremely

Will Not Repeal 5 Per Cent Clause

Washington, Oct. 15.—No attempt to repeal the clause of the new tariff law which gives a 5 per cent. discount to imports in American ships, will be made by administration leaders.

This became known today after a conference between President Wilson and Majority Leader Underwood. The whole matter of foreign protests against the provision instead has been threshed out in diplomatic channels.

That no trade war will result from the discount provision was predicted by administration leaders who pointed out that many foreign countries already had discriminated in favor of their own shipping. It was also recalled, however, that the President is empowered to cancel any trade agreements that my conflict with the new law.

Representative Underwood today characterized the discount clause as merely a return to the original Democratic doctrine of Madison and Jefferson and predicted that rehabilitation of the American merchant marine would result.

"The five per cent. clause is not nearly so drastic as the maximum-minimum provision of the Payne-Aldrich law," said the majority leader. "I don't believe in subsidies. The shipper of the merchandise under this arrangement would get the 5 per cent. reduction and the ship owner would benefit by the increase of business."

President Wilson's view, it was learned, practically coincides with that expressed by Mr. Underwood.

GRAPHIC DETAILS GIVEN OF VOLTURNO DISASTER

Captain Inch.

German Steamer Reaches New York With Over Hundred Survivors Aboard.

The Brave Young Master of the Volturno, Burned Last Week.

CHEMICALS ARE RESPONCIBLE

Second Officer Proves Himself Hero by Braving Terrible Seas in Battered Life Boat to Prove Safeness of Boats.

New York, Oct. 15.—New York took in and sheltered today the first survivors of the steamship Volturno to arrive in this country, 105 in number, brought into port by the Grosser Kurfuesrt, the North German Lloyd liner that sent the first rescue boat careening across the heavy seas that made so difficult the task of removing passengers and crew from the burning Volturno.

The wireless had brought graphic accounts of last week's sea tragedy, and today from the lips of some of the Volturno's survivors there came descriptions which contained the intimate details for which the world had waited, accentuated the heroic conduct of the Volturno's captain and crew, and of men who manned the life boats that put forth from other ships.

The explosion of a drum containing chemicals was the cause of the fire, according to the story told by Waldron Disselman, third officer of the Volturno. Disselman gave a thrilling narrative of the long hours spent on his fire-ridden ship, fighting the flames, sustaining the crippled wireless plant, lowering life boats, quieting the panic-stricken, steering the vessel by hand to keep her from drifting—fighting the battle unaided because the waves were running too high for small craft from other ships to accomplish the journey to the Volturno's side. More than 80 passengers were burned to death when they were cut off by flames Disselman reported.

Officers Show Bravery.

Ranking well up with the bravery displayed by Captain Inch, of the Volturno, were the feats of daring of several of the officers, among them Second Officer Lloyd. While ten ocean liners maneuvered about the Volturno after darkness had settled on Thursday, Captain Inch wirelessed, "We can't stand this long. Our boats are gone. Send boats." No rescue boats came in response to Inch's wireless. Then Second Officer Lloyd measured up to the mark. Taking four men with him, he entered a damaged life boat, the Volutrno's last, and showed that the seas could be lived upon.

Second Officer Von Carlsberg, of the Grosser Kurfuest, told the story of how Lloyd and his crew set the example for the other ships. "Soon a light—it was Lloyd's pocket lamp—was seen dancing up and down on top of the waves," said Von Carlsberg, "and in a short time the Volturno's boat reached us. Second Officer Lloyd and his crew were in the boat and no sooner had they boarded the Kurfuest than their boat sank. The trip had been experimental to see if it was possible for a small boat to live in the heavy sea."

Von Carlsberg commanded the first life boat that put out toward the Volturno as a result of Lloyd's venture. Besides the Grosser Kurfuest others of the liners that had come to the Volturno's assistance, lowered life boats and assisted in the dangerous work of rescue. The Carmania, which had relayed the Volturno's wireless calls for help to the other steamships, did not dispatch any life boats, according to Second Officer Lloyd, of the Volturno.

Said Second Officer Von Carlsberg, of the Kurfuest, describing the first boat's trip:

"I heard screaming on board and I decided to keep away, for I figured that some of the panic-stricken people might jump into our boat and upset it. I shouted to the officers of the Volturno to tell the people to jump into the sea and they would be rescued.

Jumped Into Sea.

"This advice was taken and we picked up man after man. When we got back to our ship I found we had rescued 21 men. The following morning I made two trips and rescued more. While we were at the Volturno's side I could not see a single woman. All appeared to be men."

Second Officer Lloyd risked his life in other ways than by his trip to the Grosser Kurfuest. When the foremast threatened to topple, it was Lloyd who climbed to the wireless plant and mended it so that communication could be maintained with the other ships. Descending, Lloyd fell 20 feet, bruising his forehead. This was before he took his crew of four and entered the Volturno's last boat.

Engineer a Hero.

Third Engineer Albert Pinsch was another hero, refusing to desert the flame-threatened engine room until he got orders from Captain Inch to do so. Then Pinsch donned his best uniform, and jumped overboard. He was rescued.

Passengers told of some of the horrors they witnessed. Some saw women burned to death, others saw babies trampled on and killed.

Several of the survivors tell horrible stories of the panic among the crew of the Volturno and of the necessity of the officers to draw their revolvers upon the crew while struggling for the life boats. The officers deny the story as to the use of their revolvers.

Mayor Kline's committee, the Red Cross relief workers and representatives of various charitable organizations met the Grosser Kurfuest at her Hoboken pier and the survivors were brought to New York. Efforts will be made to reunite families who are alive. The immigration rules were suspended, though many of the rescued were paupers.

EPISCOPALS CONDEMN TRIAL

"Ritual Murder" Case at Kiev, Russia, Draws Indignant Resolution From Church Men in Session at New York.

New York, Oct. 15.—The "ritual murder" trial at Kiev, Russia, was condemned in a resolution adopted today by the House of Deputies, the joint clerical and lay body of the Protestant Episcopal Church, at the triennial general convention.

The Episcopalians also took steps to amend their prayer book by eliminating the passage in the Good Friday Collect where Jews are classed with "infidels, Turks and heretics."

The committee on prayer book reported favorably on a proposition to amend the Good Friday service by omitting the words 'All Jews, infidels, Turks and heretics," from the General Prayer for Humanity. Consideration of the report was postponed to admit discussion.

The report of the commission on faith and order was accepted and it was voted that the commission be incorporated so that it might be free to receive bequests of money.

Three of the Western bishops went into the financial district in the afternoon and preached at the corner of Wall and Broad streets, where Dr. Wilkinson, known as the "Bishop of Wall Street," has been holding services for the past nine years. The bishops who spoke at Dr. Wilkinson's invitation were: James R. Winchester, of Arkansas; James B. Funston, of Idaho, and George A. Beecher, of Western Nebraska.

The House of Bishops today accepted the resignation of three of its members. The Right Rev. Lemuel Wells, missionary bishop of Spokane, and the Right Rev. William Crane Gray, missionary bishop of Southern Florida, retired on account of age. The Right Rev. Albion Williamson Knight, missionary bishop of Cuba, gave up active service to become capital vice chancellor of the University of the South, at Sewanee, Tenn.

Bishop Wells is 72 years old; Bishop Gray is 78.

ASK FOR NEW LAW.

Prohibiting Tampering With Paroled Prisoners.

Indianapolis, Oct. 15.—Demands for a law to punish persons who tamper with paroled men and women were expressed by Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth and others interested in parole work at today's session of the American Prison Association.

Dr. R. B. Von Kleinsmid, assistant superintendent of the Indiana reformatory, seconded the plea for an indeterminate sentence, made by W. H. Berry, of the Iowa State Board of Parole, declaring that no human judge could fix intelligently the penalty a person should pay for a crime. Captain W. I. Day, of the California reformatory, told of the new indeterminate law in his State, which is worked in connection with an industrial farm. Convicted men are first sent to prison, where if they advance three grades, are permitted to go to the farm where there are no guards or cell houses. After advancing two grades on the farm, the prisoners are paroled and when the Governor and the pardon board are satisfied of the prisoner's reformation, the Governor orders the man released.

IMPERATOR LAID UP.

Largest Ship Afloat to Have Boilers Rebuilt.

Hamburg, Oct. 15.—The Hamburg-American line today admitted in spite of earlier denials, that the boilers of the Imperator have proved unsatisfactory, that complete re-building is necessary in order to reduce the excessive coal consumption and to increase the speed of the vessel.

The builders by their contract were required to compensate the company for the compulsory retirement of the vessel from service and will have to pay approximately $1,500 for every day she is laid off.

vice the Volturno was engaged, will pay the passage of survivors to their destinations.

At shelter homes where they had been fed and clothed the survivors tonight declared almost in one voice that many of the Volturno's crew were guilty of cowardice. They told of having seen sailors rush to the sides of the burning ship, push women and children aside and leap into the life boats and lower themselves, thinking only of their own safety, while helpless passengers remained on deck and prayed to be saved.

Passengers tonight also described scenes of panic when the people in the steerage made their rush for the upper decks, after the first explosion. Passengers fell to their knees and were trampled as they prayed. "Every one for himself in cases of this kind," members of the crew replied when appealed to for protection," said one survivor.

Chemical Explosion.

Maldron Disselman, third officer of the Volturno, gave vivid account of the destruction of his ship. He attributed the cause of the fire to an explosion of a drum containing chemicals or oil in the forward part of the vessel.

"I was going to the bridge," he said, "when the first explosion occurred. The Volturno trembled as if she had been struck by a heavy shell. Almost immediately other drums began to explode. There was a rapid fire of explosions that sounded like cannonading.

"Captain Inch was on the bridge. He shouted out to man the life boats. The passengers ran in panic to the decks. The sailors sprang to the davits. The seas were sweeping in great rollers around us. The passengers crowded the rails so that the sailors had difficulty in lowering the boats. Meantime the small drums and cases of chemicals were exploding by the dozen. No one thought the ship could last five minutes.

"Flames swept up from No. 1 compartment, forward, and leaped to the forecastle. Within a few minutes it was blazing; the gale fanned the fire.

Lowered Boats.

"A boat was lowered and made way. It seemed as if it would capsize every minute. We lost it time after time in the trough of the sea. Another was smashed against the davits before it could be lowered.

"I helped lower the third officer's boat. When it struck the water a heavy sea hit it and swept several of the women overboard. The boat drifted away.

"The fourth officer's boat was lowered next. About 25 passengers were in it. We let it down clear of the ship and I saw it far away, about ten minutes afterward.

"I turned around and saw a boat floating 100 yards away. It was bottom up. The captain then gave the order to fight the fire. He coupled the hose to the pumps and stretched two lines of it through the smoke and flames to No. 1 compartment.

"Finally we got word that the Carmania was coming full speed to help us. I ran to the passengers who were huddled aft. Some of them were praying, some laughing. I shouted to them at the top of my lungs that the Carmania was coming. Most of them fell on their knees. The panic among them ended.

"The captain told me that the rigging to the main mast had broke or burned and that the mast was in danger of falling over the side of the ship. I got a couple of tackles from the cargo and fixed that.

"Then the steerage gear on the bridge blew up with a loud explosion. We began to drift. I got the carpenters at work in a hurry and they fixed up a hand-steering gear. The captain fought the flames hard and within an hour or two thought he had them under control. Then the Carmania was sighted.

Captain's Eyes Burned.

"The captain complained about his eyes. They had been badly burned and he was half blinded.

"Soon the Grosser Kurfuest got in wireless communication with us. She asked if we needed her help and Captain Inch, thinking he had the flames beaten, wirelessed back that he did not need any more help.

"None of us had thought about the 80 or 90 steerage passengers in number one compartment. We hadn't had time to do so, we were so busy fighting the fire. I don't know how many of them were in their places when the first explosion occurred. However, it was near breakfast time and I fear that most of them were there. They were cut off by the flames. We can only imagine what happened to them.

"Some time during the morning, the saloon and the first-class quarters caught fire. We broke the forward windows and put the fire out there. One after another the eleven ships that stood there offered assistance, but nobody could help us in that gale.

"At 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon a fierce fire broke out in No. 2 compartment. We tried to chop through the iron deck to get at it. Instantly the hatchways fell in.

"When the fire broke out in No. 2 the stokers could not work in the smoke and the coal supply was cut off by flames. So the engine fires died down.

Pumps Wouldn't Work.

"There was no steam to keep the pumps going and the flames rose higher.

"Captain Inch tried to shoot a line to one of the boats with a rocket. The rocket shot up, leaving the line behind. A spark set off all our rockets at once. Almost the same minute the ship was rocked by a terrific explosion on the bridge. All our ammunition had gone up.

"The captain ordered all the passengers to fasten on the life belts.

"I gave the order for all to make ready to jump for the boats.

"Some were brave and jumped into the water when the boats came close and were picked up. Some were not picked up. When I saw that no more would go and that all the women were off, I slid down a rope and stepped into the boat."

COST OF LIVING.

Crops Short, Meat Scarce—Is Little Hope Just Yet.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Small cheer for the housekeepers already depleted purses is held out by the experts of the Department of Agriculture, who today announced that food crops and meats were scarce. As a result the "high cost of living" may be more altitudinous than ever. Combined estimates of the crops that go to make up the food supplies of the American table are discouraging, while the price of meat animals on September 1st was far in excess of the figures for the past two years.

Little hope for the lower prices of meat through the competition of meats from Argentina, Australia and other beef-producing countries is seen by the experts, who declare that, with the free markets of England and other countries open to it, meat can hardly become plentiful and cheap in this country.

Equally pessimistic views are entertained with regard to the cotton crop, which is the poorest of any in the past 10 years, with one exception. hus it is said mournfully, less clothing may accompany the necessity of meager means in the immediate future.

improbable that General Huerta will release the deputies and restore them to their functions which appears to be the only alternative.

The deputies are still in the penitentiary and processes in the civil courts are being prepared against many of them. They are allowed to receive aid from friends, although thus far they have not been permitted to communicate with the outside world.

Washington's View.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Administration officials up to the hour of closing the Government Departments today, were without advices as to the result of the reported conference in Mexico City of the entire diplomatic corps.

This development in the situation, following close upon President Wilson's sharp note, declaring that the United States was shocked at the "lawlessness" of General Huerta in assuming a dictatorship over Mexico, was taken to mean here that foreign governments might bring pressure to bear in an effort to compose the situation.

General Huerta's decree, taking unto himself legislative, as well as executive powers, has swept aside all hope here that the Huerta regime would establish a constitutional government or be able to cope with the increasingly vigorous fighting of the Constitutionalists.

Both President Wilson and Secretary Bryan are turning over in their minds the possibility of a more aggressive course of action by the United States. Three methods of dealing with the situation are being suggested as open to the Washington government:

First—There is the ever-recurrent suggestion in official circles of a military and naval demonstration which would serve as a precautionary move in case a forcible policy is later required. For the present, however, the President and his advisers are concentrating on a constructive solution by the use of peaceful measures.

Naval Demonstrations.

Second—Many officials think a series of strong demands made upon the authorities at Mexico City to force the immediate elimination of General Huerta would complete the record of the U. S. in attempting to assist as "the nearest neighbor" in solving the difficulties of the Southern republic. It has been suggested by some officials that should such demands be ignored, the american government would be justified in throwing its support to the Constitutionalists in the north.

Third—The United States could formally announce its absolute termination of relations with the Huerta officials, leaving it to the influence both of the Constitutianlist movement and various liberal elements in Mexico City to secure the elimination of Huerta and the establishment of a provisional government with which the Constitutionalists would negotiate for peace and arrange a free election in compliance with Mexican law.

Secretary Bryan left here tonight for Waterloo, Iowa, and before his departure he told callers he did not expect the American government to take any further steps for a few days at least.

The dispatch of an additional German warship to Mexican waters did not bring forth any comment, as the Washington government looks upon such action as well as on the conference of the diplomats today in Mexico City as the beginning of a series of manifestations by the governments of the world generally that may have a sobering effect on Huerta.

General Maas Arrested.

The arrest of General Maas, Mexican Federal commander, on a civil warrant, while traveling through the United States to get from Piedras Negras, Mexico, to Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, excited attention chiefly because the War Department's permission was over-ridden. As the general was released on bail, however, it is not believed the Huerta government will make any representations in the matter.

The initiative taken by the Spanish minister in Mexico City in calling a diplomatic council today, attracted special attention here because representatives of Spain in the Mexican capital have never been inclined to support the American policy.

President Wilson discussed the situation today with Secretary Bryan and several Senators, and later the Foreign Relations committee of the Senate had a meeting behind closed doors. It was a regular meeting day, however, and the session of the Senators was not called by developments.

Instructions delivered by Charge O'Shaughnessy to the authorities at Mexico City defining the attitude of the United States towards Huerta's assumption of dictatorship, were as follows:

"The President is shocked at the lawlessness of the methods employed by General Huerta, and as a sincere friend of Mexico is deeply distressed at the situation which has arisen. He finds it impossible to regard otherwise than as an act of bad faith toward the United States Huerta's course in dissolving the Congress and arresting the Deputies."

"It is not only a violation of constitutional guarantees, but destroys all possibility of a free and fair election. The President believes that an election held at this time and under the conditions as now existing would have none of the sanction with which law surrounds the ballot, and that the result, therefore, could not be regarded as representing the will of the people.

"The President would not feel justified in accepting the result of such an election or in recognizing the President so chosen."

Federals Running.

Matamoras, Mex., Oct. 15.—Victoria, capital of the State of Tamaulipas, has been evacuated by the Federals, according to unconfirmed reports to Constitutionalist headquarters here today. The concerted southward advance begun by Constitutionalists several weeks ago, with the coast their announced objective point, is believed to have caused the Federals' withdrawal.

Diplomatic Meeting.

The diplomatic representatives of Great Britain, France, Spain, Cuba, Guatamala and Norway, at a conference decided to recommend that their respective governments send warships to Mexico for the purpose of affording legation guards, should conditions so require.

A member of the diplomatic corps made this statement tonight. He also said that the diplomatic representatives had recommended a temperate attitude in the matter of Mexico's reply to Washington.

Gen. Maas' Trip.

Laredo, Texas, Oct. 15.—Gen. Joaquin Maas, commander of the Mexican Federal troops at Piedras Negras, arrived here shortly after 10 o'clock tonight with his staff aboard a special train and immediately crossed the international boundary to Nuevo Laredo where he is to confer with Gen. Tellez and other government leaders.

Before the arrival of the train bearing the Federal officers constitutionalists sympathizers gathered about the railroad station in large numbers. A detail of United States troops from McIntosh was also on hand, however, and no disorder was attempted.

Beyond the announcement previously made that Gen. Maas is to attend a conference at Nuevo Laredo, nothing can be ascertained tonight as to the purpose of his visit or when he will return to Piedras Negras.

Guaymas Taken.

Nogales, Ariz., Oct. 15.—The Sonora State troops forced their way into Guaymas late today, according to railroad advices received here tonight. The dispatches said desperate street fighting was in progress.

Another German Ship.

Berlin, Oct. 15.—The German protected cruiser Vineta, in addition to the Hertla, was ordered today to proceed to American waters owing to the disturbances in Mexico.

May Bring Developments.

Eagle Pass, Oct. 15.—Developments in Mexico City within 24 hours may have a bearing on the mission of General Joaquin Maas, Mexican Federal commander, who slipped out of Piedras Negras early today and skurried over a section of United States territory in a special train in order to reach Neuvo Laredo on the Mexican border.

This assertion was made here today in a responsible quarter but the nature of the probable developments at the Mexican capital were not made public. Other persons who are credited with a knowledge of the situation in Mexico City declare there has been a split in the Federal army and that General Maas has gone to Neuvo Laredo to consult with the military authorities there in relation to it. General Maas himself says he is en route to Saltillo to assume the Governorship of the State of Coahuila.

Meanwhile the general's determination to relinquish command of his men at Piedras Negras, even temporarily, the permission said to have been given him by Secretary of State Bryan to travel on United States soil, and his reported arrest and subsequent release at San Antonio have aroused widespread comment along the border.

WON FIRST HONOR.

Sixty Entries in Championship Golf Tournament.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 15.—Tom McNamara and M. J. Brady, Boston, with a score of 141, won first honor today in the 36-hole best ball foursome prelude to the open championship tournament of the Western Golf Association, which will start over the Memphis Country Club course tomorrow.

Fred McLeod, Chevy Chase, and Stewart Maiden, Atlanta, tied with R. S. Simpson, unattached, and J. B. Simpson, Milwaukee, for second place, one stroke behind McNamara and Brady.

The Boston pair played rather ordinary golf on the morning round, taking 73 to negotiate the 18 holes, but in the afternoon made up for the deficiencies of their morning play with a 68.

Play in the championship match will start at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning over a fast course.

Thirty-six holes will be played tomorrow, and the match finished Friday.

Of the sixty entrants fifteen are amateurs.

WILL USE SAME PLAN.

Championship Games Will Not be Inter-League.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—There is little likelihood that the world's baseball series as played for the last half dozen seasons will be replaced by a general inter-league conflict in which every club of one circuit would meet every one in the other.

B. B. Johnson, president of the American League, today expressed that opinion, arguing that for the good of the game, the present system would be retained.

The proposal of August Herrmann, chairman of the National Commission for the round robin series, was first made several years ago, but not until this Fall was it accorded much support. It is possible Mr. Herrmann may get the commission at its meeting here Monday to take up the matter with the clubs, but President Johnson's opposition probably will delay its adoption for some time at least.

HELP WITH WIRELESS.

International Wireless Committee Urges Adherence to Treaty.

Brussels, Oct. 15.—The Provisional International Wireless Committee, at a meeting here today decided upon the organization of committees in all the countries adhering to the wireless telegraph treaty, signed at London in July, 1910, to aid the governments in extensive wireless observations and experimental practices.

They will be carried out with the object first to determine a way to secure constancy and steadiness of wireless waves; second, measuring the variations in signals and atmospheric disturbances, at the different stations; third, comparing the intensity of signals. These experiments will be conducted simultaneously on three days of each week, beginning in January. Special meteorological observations also will be made once a month.

Reports of the work of the committees will be made to the wireless conference at Brussels in 1914, with a view to legislation.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Freight tariffs proposing the advance of five per cent. by the Eastern railroads poured in on the Inter-State Commerce Commission today. Preliminaries of the case now are complete. No definite time yet has been fixed for the beginning of hearings.

Another shipment of black and white Shepherds checks today at C. H. Fore & Co.—Advertisement.

This does not apply to cases from Orange county, which will be called and heard next week with the appeals from the 10th and 11th districts.

WEST ELIMINATED.

Two English, One Irish and Five Easterners Playing.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 15.—The West was eliminated here today in the second round of match play for the women's national golf championship. Two English, one Irish and five Eastern players remain in the competition.

Miss Muriel Dodd, the present English and Canadian champion, won from Miss Violet Pooley, of British Columbia, five up and three to play.

Miss Florence L. Harvey, of Canada, lost to Miss Marion Hollins, of New York, one up.

Miss Mabel Harrison, of Ireland, eliminated Miss Carolina Painter, of Chicago two and one, and Miss Fannie Osgood, of Boston, defeated Miss Myra Helmar, of Chicago, the present Western champion, 3 and 1.

Miss Gladys Ravenscroft, of England, won from Miss Elane Rosenthal, of Chicago, 6 and 5.

CASUALTIES APPALLING.

Football Declared Rougher Than Two Years Ago.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—he weekly list of football injuries is appalling as compared with records of "casualties" in combats of ten years ago, according to an authority on the gridiron game, writing today in the Chicago Daily News.

Despite the new rules any of which were designed to eliminate roughness and lessen chance of injury, the "new" game makes the "old" look like a parlor pastime, he says.

The critic does not blame the present code or method of play for all injuries but says the changes have in part defeated their very purpose because they are responsible of the skill with which old-time players avoided injury.

ANVIL WON CUP.

Beat Cheney in Straight Heats Easily at Lexington, Ky.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 15.—Anvil, driven by the veteran, "Pop" Geers, easily won the Castleton cup, the feature of today's grand circuit races, beating Cheney, the famous little Texas mare, in straight heats.

A gold cup donated by David M. Lock, owner of Castleton stock farm, was presented to Mr. Geers.

The 2:11 trot went to five heats and was won by Redlac, Jr., after the Son of Redlac had lost the first and third heats.

The pacing division of the Kentucky Futurity, was won by Homer Baughman in straight heats from Tilly Tipton. It was a two horse race.

The 2:16 pace was won in straight heats by Great Scott.

St. Louis, Oct. 15.—Edward Ray and Harry Vardon, the British professional golf champions today defeated Ennis Miller and Jesse Carleton, on the Normandie links, Ray in 72 made the course which has 79 for bogey and Vardon made it in 75.

Requisition for D. H. Baum—Fire Losses for September—Fayetteville Case in Supreme Court—Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 15.—Governor Craig issued a requisition today on the Governor of Pennsylvania for D. H. Baum, who is wanted in Dare county on the charge of embezzling $225 that had been entrusted to him by the management of the life saving station off the coast of Dare county with which to purchase wood of a certain kind for the station. Baum is understood to be in custody in Philadelphia and will be held for the Dare county authorities.

A reward of $50 is offered by Governor Craig for the arrest of Jessie Ewell, Martin county, a negro wanted for the murder of Theodore Hardy on the night of September 8th in Martin county. The negro has disappeared and no trace of him can be found. There are local rewards offered that run the total outstanding to $150.

The Old North State Paper Co., of Greensboro, has filed with the Secretary of State an amendment to its charter increasing the capital from $10,000 to $100,000. D. M. Bagley is president.

Commissioner of Insurance James R. Young has issued a statement that shows that during September 1913, there were $17,919,300 fire losses in this country as compared with $13,777,300 in September, 1912, and $11,333,250 in September 1911. The losses for the nine months of the present year aggregate $178,456,550 and the corresponding nine months of 1912 $177,429,650. These figures are construed to emphasize the steady increase of fire losses and the necessity for every possible attention to be given to the elimination of fire waste.

The Supreme Court heard today the argument of counsel in the case of J. W. Smith vs. Fayetteville Fair Association, which comes up on appeal from a non suit in the trial below. It is a case in which Smith sues for damages on account of being accidentally caught up in the ropes of a balloon at the Fayetteville fair last year and being carried up a considerable distance. The balloon started up accidentally and caught Smith by the foot. He attempted to cut the ropes in which he was tangled, but dropped his knife. The court held that he was in the danger zone without authority when the accident occurred. Attorneys for Smith are A. S. Hall, Shaw & McLean and McIntyre, Lawrence & Proctor, and for the Fair Association, Rose & Rose.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week will be the big days of the State fair here and there were never such fine prospects for complete success in every phase of the big fair, which has come to be one of the very biggest events of the whole year for the whole of North Carolina. Entries for all classes of exhibits are very much in excess of any previous year, three fine new buildings, or exhibit halls have been added, the grounds very much extended and the spectacular features of the fair will far surpass all records. For the first time the grounds will be open at night and the special feature each night will be "The Last Days of Pompeii", the world famous spectacle of the destruction of Pompeii in which $1,000 worth of fireworks goes up in thrillingly spectacular flames and smoke each night.

The management of the Central Hospital for the insane here has purchased in Richmond an immense conservatory that is being taken down in sections and will be brought here and set up on the grounds of the hospital. The conservatory that has served the hospital for many years in housing and growing the flowers for the big institution has come to be entirely too small, hence the purchase at quite a bargain of this big conservatory in Richmond which will be equal to the needs of the hospital for many years to come.

The Raleigh police justice has just imposed a sentence of six months on the roads upon Tip Brinkley, who was caught Monday night selling cocaine. The police are especially vigilant just now in efforts to put an end to the sale of this terrible drug to negroes hereabouts. A similar sentence is imposed upon Andrew Tate, colored, who called Hezekiah McCullock, principal witness against Brinkley, across the street when he came from the court room, and dealt him three heavy blows. This done he made off as fast as he could, but the police overtook him and pulled him from under the house of a friend where he had crawled in hopes of evading his pursuers.

A two days examination of applicants for the Rhodes scholarships on the part of North Carolina to Oxford University, England, was concluded today by Prof. A. F. Sams, of the State Department of Education. There are two scholarships to be filled for North Carolina through these examinations. Nine young men undertook the examination. They are D. T. Caldwell, Davidson; A. R. Gay, Wake Forest; D. L. McWhorter, Bethel; James Cannon, Trinity College; Paul E. Hubbell, Raleigh; Kenneth Royall, Chapel Hill; A. C. Campbell, Buie's Creek; W. I. Wooten, Trinity College, and E. L. Elliott, Davidson.

The North Carolina special committee to report to the American commission for agricultural inquiry, has just made public its report as filed, the report being the work of Hon. E. L. Daughtridge, Dr. H. Q. Alexander, Clarenre Poe and John Sprunt Hill. In this report it is set out that there is great need for short term credit, better marketing system, standardization of farm products, and for proper system of marketing and distributing crops. It is asserted that owing to high and inadequate rates on money fully 14,000,000 acres of land are allowed to lie waste. There is complaint of prejudice on the part of bankers against loaning money on farm real estate. The commission that filed this report was appointed by Governor Craig at the instance of the American commission.

ARGUES FOR REVERSAL.

Davis Wants Action of Commerce Court Annulled.

Washington, Oct. 15. — Solicitor General Davis argued before the Supreme Court today for reversal of the Commerce Court's action in declaring the "Pipe Line law" unconstitutional.

He contended that the law was passed in 1906 to free the country from the oil monopoly and that a court order for the dissolution of the monopoly entered since furnished no reason for annulling the law.

John G. Mulburn, for the Ohio Oil Company, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, and the Standard Oil Company of Louisiana, urged that the Inter-State Commerce Commission had no power over a company which had built its pipe line on its own property for its private use.

The solicitor general, however, urged that it would not do to construe the law as applying only to concerns holding themselves out as common carriers.

THE FAYETTEVILLE BOOSTERS

Large Party Touring Six Counties of North and Upper South Carolina. At Rowland Early Yesterday Afternoon.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Fayetteville, N. C., Oct. 15.—The Fayetteville Boosters, 60 strong, left here this morning for a two days tour through North and South Carolina. The Boosters, who are traveling in 15 automobiles will rest tonight at Bennettsville, S. C., and, leaving there early tomorrow morning, will reach home tomorrow night. Their first stop was at St. Paul in Robeson county.

They reached Lumberton at 11:30 this morning. From then on they made Fairmont, McDonald, Rowland, in North Carolina; Dillon, Little Rock, Clio and Bennettsville in the Palmetto State. Tomorrow they will make the balance of the 18 towns which they will visit on the trip, in the following order: Tatum and McColl, S. C., Gibson (back in North Carolina), Laurel Hill, Laurinburg, Maxton, Red Springs, Wagram and Raeford.

The Boosters will travel 191 miles; they made 95 miles today and will cover 96 tomorrow. They will traverse six of the best counties in the South—Cumberland, Robeson, Scotland and Hoke, in North Carolina, and Dillon and Marlboro, in South Carolina.

Among the business men making the trip are E. W. Percival, Jr., of the Armfield Company, and the Armfield-Percival Company; Thos. H. Sutton, Jr., of the Wallace-Ellington Company; Fred T. Reach Rowland, N. C.

Rowland, N. C., Oct. 15.—The Fayetteville Boosters reached this place today at 2 o'clock on their second annual trip. It was a jolly party composed of more than 60 of Fayetteville's business men, headed by an excellent brass band from Dunn. The party traveled in gaily decorated automobiles and threw out much advertising matter concerning the advantages of the Cape Fear city and the great Cumberland Fair soon to be held. After dinner at the hotel and a few short speeches by Mayor Underwood, Sheriff McGeachy and others, the visitors continued their journey to Dillon and other points.

TRUCKING DEVELOPMENT.

Extensive Work Being Done Along the Seaboard Air Line.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Clarkton, N. C., Oct. 14.—During the past three weeks the expert agriculturist for the Seaboard Air Line Railway, Mr. H. T. Prosser, has been very actively engaged in the territory between Bladenboro, N. C., and Elkton, N. C., classifying the soils and advising the farmers when and how to get in such crops as strawberries, Irish potatoes, beans and onions, watermelons, cantaloupes and scuppernong grapes. Mr. Prosser has just brought nearly a million strawberry plants to the farmers in this territory and they have been set and are growing. These plants will give a fair yield next Spring. Mr. Prosser states that the soils in the territory around Clarkton are very suitable for the crops named and that it is destined to be the most noted trucking center in the South.

Mr. Prosser states that one of the most profitable crops for this section is Irish potatoes and that he hopes to get at least 800 acres planted in the Spring. He advises that every assistance will be given the farmers who are interested in making their farm a paying institution. The offices of Mr. Prosser are in Hamlet, N. C.

BOUT CALLED OFF.

One Contestant Has Sore Arm and Fight Postponed.

Superior, Wis., Oct. 15.—The ten-round bout between Spike Kelly and Billy Walters, aspirants to the welterweight championshipp, scheduled to take place here Friday night, has been postponed until October 23rd, because of an injury to Walters' arm, received in a recent bout.

Aunt Sally's Advice to Beauty-Seekers

W. C. D. says: "My face is freckled the year round; nothing I try seems to help much. Is there anything that will really take off these horrid spots?" Have you tried the treatment recommended to Minnie L.? I've known this to remove obstinate freckles.

Ellen B. asks: "What should I do for deep lines under my eyes and across my forehead?" Such lines, and all wrinkles are best obliterated by bathing affected portions in a good astringent and tonic lotion, which strengthens and draws in the relaxed tissue. Here's a reliable formula: 1 oz. powdered saxolite, ½ pt. witch hazel; mix and use daily until entirely relieved.

Minnie L.: The undue redness as well as the pimples, may easily be removed by using ordinary mercolized wax. Apply nightly like cold cream and erase morning with warm water. Soon you'll have a beautifully white, clear, soft and velvety complexion. Mercolized wax, sold by all druggists, is better than cosmetics for any complexion trouble. One ounce suffices for most conditions.—Woman's Realm.

HIGH SCHOOL DEBATING UNION.

Plans for Continuation at University —Distinguished Visitors There.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Chapel Hill, N. C., Oct. 15.—Definite plans are being made by the University of North Carolina for the continuation and extension of the High School Debating Union of North Carolina, which was organized last year among the secondary and high schools of the State by the Dialectic and Philanthropic Literary societies. The query that will be discussed this year by all the schools having membership in the union is:

"Resolved, That the Constitution of North Carolina should be so amended as to allow the Initiative and Referendum in State-wide Legislation." A pamphlet is being prepared of 50 or 60 pages containing arguments and references on both sides of the question and will be ready for distribution from Chapel Hill to all the high schools of the debating union by the first of November.

The final debates of this contest will be held in Chapel Hill the latter part of April. There will be held at Chapel Hill at this time the "High School Work" of the University. In addition to the final contest of the debating union for the Aycock Memorial Cup, conferences of high school teachers in the Peabody Education building, the inter-scholastic track meet, and a declamation contest are some of the things which will make up the programme of this week.

The eminent vulcanologist and French academican, Alfred Lacroix, professor of mineralogy in the Museum of Natural History and director of the laboratory of mineralogy in e'Ecole de Hautes Etudes, of Paris, was a visitor to the University of North Carolina for two days during the past week. Madame Lacoix, the wife of the professor, is the daughter of the celebrated French photographer, Fougue, and has been a companion of her distinguished husband in his travels and studies. She was with him at the meeting of the International Geological Congress in Toronto, Canada, this past Summer. She is also accompanying her husband on his trip to California and to North Carolina. Prof. Lacroix is investigating the pegmatites of the world. After visiting Chapel Hill, spending some time with Prof. Collier Cobb, professor of geology in the University, and Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, State geologist, he went to the mica mining region of Western North Carolina.

PUBLISHERS' ANNOUNCEMENT.

THE MORNING STAR, the oldest daily newspaper in North Carolina, is published daily except Monday, at $6 per year, $3 for six months; $1.50 for three months; 50 cents for one month, served by carriers in the city, or by mail.

THE SUNDAY STAR, by mail, one year, $1; six months, 50 cents; three months, 25 cents.

ADVERTISING RATES may be had on application, and advertisers may feel assured that through the columns of this paper they may reach all Wilmington, Eastern Carolina and contiguous territory in South Carolina.

Obituary sketches, cards of thanks, communications espousing the cause of a private enterprise or a political candidate and like matter will be charged at the rate of 10 cents per line, to persons carrying a regular account, or, if paid cash in advance, a half rate will be allowed. Announcements of fairs, festivals, balls, hops, picnics, excursions, society meetings, political meetings, etc., will be charged under the same conditions, except so much thereof as may be of news value to readers of the paper, in the discretion of the editors.

TELEPHONES: Business Office, No. 51; Editorial and Local rooms, No. 61. Call either, if the other doesn't answer.

COMMUNICATIONS, unless they contain important news, or discuss briefly and properly subjects of real interest, are not wanted; and, if acceptable in every other way, they will invariably be rejected unless the real name of the author accompanies the same, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

ALL DRAFTS, checks, express money orders, and postal money orders, for the paper should be made payable, and all communications should be addressed to THE WILMINGTON STAR CO.

The man who remains in Mexico is certainly an optimist. All the pessimists have fled.

The Republican organs are grinding out a miserable existence under prosperous circumstances.

If a community is behind the times it ought to organize a Catch-up-with-the-Times Association.

Men seem to want to wool each other good when they insist on having the same place in the passing show.

The Mexican Congressmen differed with President Huerta, so he put them in jail so he wouldn't have to put up with opposition.

Georgia has a pretty town named Americus but if its men live up to the town's name there must be many a merry cuss thereabouts.

Senator Overman has reason to believe that every Democrat in Western North Carolina has to have an office or get something equally as good.

"Will Mrs. Pankhurst land?" is the daily newspaper query. She is coming over to land a lot of American dollars and that is just what she is going to do.

The South does not want indiscriminate immigration but it wants to pick the people who are to settle here and become a part of the people of the future.

The United States exports 250,000,000 eggs to foreign countries and receives $4,500,000 in return. In the meantime, the South buys more eggs than that from the States that are making money on poultry.

If President Wilson approves the new currency bill while the banks object to it, the people may rest assured that the opposition comes from those whose privileges are curtailed in the interest of the public.

Atlanta women have undertaken to standardize the public school system of that city. If they succeed, it shows that women can do what men have neglected to do. If men every where don't bestir themselves, they will soon be following the lead of their lady friends.

There is no telling what a boy can make of himself when he keeps on the job. Eighteen years ago a country boy got a job as errand boy in the First National Bank at Sullivan, Illinois. That boy kept on going higher and higher and became one of the leading bankers of the State. Last Saturday, as assistant treasurer of the United States, he became the custodian of $100,000,000 of the government's funds at Chicago. The errand boy's name was Irving Shuman and he is the man to whom reference is now made.

CONTROL OF WATER RATES.

With reference to the proposal of the Morse Steamship interests to run their ships from New York to Wilmington, provided the business men of Wilmington take $25,000 of the company's bonds, we believe it was Mr. Joe N. Jacobi who suggested that in lieu of investing in the company's securities the better plan for the business men of Wilmington would be to present the company with a terminal. It is necessary for that or any other company to have terminal and warehouse facilities if they use this port, and that necessity again brings us face to face with a subject which The Star has discussed for many years—ample and well-equipped water terminals under public control.

Just as railroad rates are controlled by carriers owning the means and facilities of transportation by rail, so can water rates be controlled by transportation companies or private parties who own the water terminals of a port. When the water front of any port is in the hands of private or corporate ownership, it is in the power of such owners to dictate the terms upon which commerce may be done. They fix the wharfage and warehouse charges, and it is possible for them to do with water transportation what the railroads do with land transportation.

It is true that a multiplicity of terminals would make completion possible and also make it difficult for any one to dominate the water traffic of a port, but in these days of combination and community of interest agreements, there is a most likely possibility if not probability, that a way would be discovered to control water rates with less difficulty than rail rates can be controlled. A port may have water a thousand feet deep but if its terminal facilities are not either regulated or controlled by the public, in the interest of the carriers and the public without prejudice, an ocean gateway could easily be utilized for private or corporate benefit, as the case may be. Even the rate-basing port of Norfolk knows whereof we speak, hence that deep-water port with all its fine facilities for handling commerce, complains of rates, which, it is contended there, are prejudicial to the interest of the city and port.

Since water terminals are a necessity for commercial development, the business men of Wilmington could not do a better thing for the port of Wilmington than to construct terminals as either a matter of investment or from the point of view of the public interests. That is aside from any system of municipal terminals, such as Jacksonville is establishing in the interest of the commerce of that port. There is no better property than well-equipped water terminals, and especially in a port that is bound to see its commerce increasing year after year.

ADVANTAGES OF A CITY MARKET

A central municipal market is being agitated for Atlanta by the Chamber of Commerce of that city. The reason for the agitation is that it is believed that a central market under public control will tend to lower the prices of food products of every description. Investigation shows that next to Boston, the cost of living is higher in Atlanta than in any other American city. There may be other reasons why that is true, but the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce believes that a municipal market will greatly help to relieve the situation.

Atlanta has some of the best equipped private markets of any city in the country, and they are a great convenience to the public, as they are close to the consuming districts. People never stop to think about the cost of marketing as well as the cost of market commodities but this is a practical, everyday subject that gets so close to home that the larger a city grows the more attention it is bound to receive.

While a municipal market that may be properly constructed and regulated may be a good thing for Atlanta, it does not necessarily follow that properly supervised private markets will not be permitted for the convenience of the public. There is no objection to city markets if they are kept clean but most cities seem to fall down in the sanitary regulation of either central or private markets.

There is a proposition in Savanah to abolish the municipal market but the Morning News urges its retention for the public good. That valued contemporary, however, wants it "made an up-to-date institution," and emphasis is laid upon the efficient management and supervision that will assure a sanitary market.

Sanitation is everything in handling food supplies, and while the market question is up, it is one that Wilmington should be specially concerned in from the sanitary point of view. It is a serious question, and as Wilmington has two public markets and several private ones, it is not out of place to say that they should all undergo the most rigid inspection and supervision.

WHAT TO MANUFACTURE.

The adaptibility of a community for manufacturing includes first of all the availability of a plentiful supply of raw materials and the demand for whatever can be produced to the best advantage where the raw materials can be had the cheapest. Whatever is in large demand finds the readiest sale, and as it would not be aeroplanes we should not say that the manufacture of flying machines would be a profitable industry.

However, we can illustrate by automobiles. Everybody seems to want one, and as the South ought to be able to manufacture them as cheaply as they can be made anywhere, we should say that a chug wagon factory would be a good proposition. One manufacturer up North is turning out 1,000 automobiles a day, and goodness knows what the many manufacturers there are doing along the same line. In eight months this year 180,000 new machines have been licensed in New York State alone.

COTTON GINNING IS SLOW.

Up to September 25th, the amount of cotton ginned in North Carolina was 49,952 bales, compared with 101,683 bales for the corresponding period in 1912. Thus, there is a difference of 51,731 in favor of last year. In other words, more than twice as much cotton was ginned in North Carolina up to September 25th, last year, than has been ginned up to the same date this season. This may be due to two causes—a very late crop and possibly a short crop, although the State Agricultural Department claims that North Carolina's crop will be larger than that of last year.

We get the ginning figures from a report sent out by Mr. William J. Harris, director of the Census Bureau, Washington, D. C. It contains a tabulated ginning statement from every cotton-growing county in the State. The cotton area in North Carolina embraces 30 counties out of 100, and in furnishing The Star the report by counties, Director Harris announces that compilation and distribution of this data, by States, is a new departure. It is a capital idea and it will be appreciated by the growers as well as by the public which is deeply interested in the cotton industry in all its branches. We not only appreciate this data as a matter of information, but we commend the work of the Census Bureau as a valuable new feature in its system of promulgating crop publicity.

CURRENT COMMENT.

"If it's a North Carolina baby girl, how is it possible that it could be a better baby?"—Wilmington Star. Can't see but one possible change and that is to make it a Georgia baby.—Waycross (Ga.) Herald.

But maybe part of the fury of those who accuse Mr. Justice is due, not so much to the fact that they think that he has gained in the estimation of the people by the freight rate ight, as to the fact that he is pretty nearly the only man who has.—Greensboro News.

There is widespread regret in the State at news of the illness of Bishop Robert Strange in New York. Hardly a churchman in the State is better known or more loved than Bishop Strange. We wish for him a speedy recovery.—Raleigh News and Observery.

It is estimated that North Carolina will pay about $450,000 income tax and that Charlotte and Winston will contribute most heavily. Glad to hear it. This shows that the other towns are better off, every one having something, all of the money not being held by a few men.—Greensboro Record.

Is Greenland the largest island in the world? Its area is 512,000 square miles, and it seems that if there were another island as large as that explorers would have found it long ago. That a Russian expedition just back from the Arctic regions reports the discovery of a body of land as large as Greenland shows that the earth's surface is not yet an open book to even the most learned geographers. But it would be more interesting if explorers should find new land with a climate that permitted of its being colonized.—Savannah News.

The Carolina Columbian is a Catholic paper that has appeared in Charlotte. It is published in the interest of the Knights of Columbus and is edited by Warren Vines Hall, S. D. There is no indication of its period of publication, whether weekly or monthly. The initial number deals with fraternal affairs in the two Carolinas and carriers a number of illustrations of Catholic prelates, churches and institutions. The appearance of this paper is quite probably the outcome of recent agitation in Charlotte and it gives evidence of being aggressively on the defensive.—Charlotte Observer.

THE DUPREE ARREST.

Editor Morning Star:

Will you please allow me space in your paper to explain thoroughly tne arrest of the negro murderer, Dupree, at Sanford? On October 7th I went down to my engine to go to work at 6:30 A. M. Upon my arrival one of the train hands said to me: "There is a negro over there that the porter on train No. 59 said was the one that an officer at Roseboro last night was looking for, and he is wanted in Wilmington for murder."

I asked the train hand if he knew where the policeman lived and he replied that he did not but that he would find out. I told him to get him as quick as possible. He went up the street to a laundry and got a colored woman to 'phone the City Hall for the officer. I kept a close eye on the negro while the train hand was gone. The negro Dupree, asked the conductor on the Southern local, for which we were waiting to get out of our way, if he could work his way to Greensboro. The conductor told him no and he went on with his work.

About this time I saw the officer coming, and walked over to the side walk to meet him. The negro Dupree, was standing on the opposite side of the shanty from us. I told the officer what evidence I had against the negro, and he replied that this was not sufficient to arrest him on. I told the officer that he could get him for hobcing to which he agreed. I then told him to get him and hold him until he could wire Wilmington and find out if he was the negro wanted.

He then arrested him and asked me again to give him the evidence I had against him, and I went over it again with him. When I arrived in Wilmington I went to train No. 59 and saw Sheriff Cowan on his way after the prisoner. I explained to him about the arrest of the negro and asked him about the reward. He said there was a reward out for him but under the circumstances he did not think that it would be paid until the officer at Sanford and myself could come to some agreement about the matter.

Later I saw the Sanford officer in Wilmington but we were unable to reach an agreement. I told him that I thought that the porter and the train hand should have some of the reward as neither of us would have known anything about the negro if it had not been for them. He said: "Let's leave them entirely out of it and let us settle the matter among ourselves." This was hard for me to do, and I offered to leave it entirely with three non-interested persons, and after hearing all the circumstances let them decide what was the right and proper thing to do. He would not consent to this.

I offered to give him half and to settle with the colored men myself. He would not consent to this as he said that he had been put to considerable trouble and expense coming down to Wilmington. I then offered to go half and pay half of his expenses while he was in Wilmington. He would not agree to this but proposed to me that the matter be left open until he could see his superior officers. He said that he would return to Wilmington the following week when we could settle the matter some way, as he had to go to Sanford the following morning.

I do not think that he returned the following morning nor did he leave the matter open as he had proposed. I think that he collected $100 of the reward, and there are affidavits on file with the chairman of the Board of County Commissioners where he swore he was the whole cause of the arrest of the prisoner Dupree.

I write this that all concerned may receive justice.

AMERICA BEHIND EUROPE.

in Sanitation, Says Dr. Stiles—Veteran in Trouble—Kinston News.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., Oct. 15.—Dr. C. W. stiles, the eminent hookworm specialist of the U. S. Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, who has been investigating local sanitary conditions for the past two days, in an address to citizens declared that America was many years behind Europe in health matters, and measuring Americans by this standard he considers our civilization inferior to that of the peoples oversea.

Dr. Stiles also addressed the high school students, and interested them in the campaign of the North Carolina Board of Health for the eradication of the germ-carrying mosquito as a means of preventing malaria. He investigated a number of places in the city where refuse bottles and cans afforded places for mosquitoes, but conditions as a whole were not bad. Dr. Stiles left last night to visit other East Carolina towns.

Charitably inclined people have taken upon themselves the care of a very unfortunate victim of bad luck in East Kinston. J. W. Robinson, an aged Confederate veteran, was discovered in a house in the suburbs with a bad case of smallpox. Besides suffering from the malady, the old soldier is blind and deaf. His wife, his support, had just recovered from the disease, which had prevented her from working in a mill for their maintenance.

At 3:30 o'clock this afternoon Rev. Ralph Moore Harper, a former Kinstonian, was married at Charleston, S. C., to Miss Elsie Wilburn, an accomplished and attractive young South Carolina woman. Mr. Harper resided here until several years ago, when he accepted the assistant rectorate of St. Paul's Episcopal Cathedral, at Boston. He stopped here for a day or two before going to Charleston.

Hargett Davis, a one-legged negro, was arrested here yesterday afternoon for trespass in a rather unusual case. Several months ago Davis and a white planter named Ellis Jarman, engaged in a duel with guns at Sandy Bottom, in which neither was hurt, and Jarman had the black arrested for trespass. His case was disposed of in Superior Court. Recently Jarman brought another charge for the same offense. Davis stated that he was drunk and prostrate in the road and that a relative carried him onto the land of Jarman, as the reason for the second indictment.

AT THE AGE OF 102.

Mrs. Elizabeth Herring Dead at Home Near Clarkton, N. C.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Clinton, N. C., Oct. 15.—Mrs. Elizabeth Herring, at the home of her son-in-law, W. J. Butler, near here, died today at the remarkable age of 102 years. She was a daughter of Duncan McPhail, a native of Scotland, who settled in Cumberland county. There Mrs. Herring was born September 3rd, 1811. She married Joseph Herring, a leading citizen of Sampson county, and was the mother of 11 children, seven of whom yet survive her together with a great number of grandchildren, great grand-children, and some great great grand-children. She was a most estimable woman and was in full possession of all of her faculties until her last illness which began but a short time ago. She will be buried tomorrow at 11 o'clock at the family burial ground. Almost as old as our republic this good woman was much loved for her amiable character and faithfulness in every relation of life by three generations of people and had the satisfaction of looking back at the close of her life upon a long line of descendants who are among the best people of this section of the State.

JOHN TWOHY AFLOAT.

Towed Into Southport and Beached—May Be Repaired.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Southport, N. C., Oct. 15.—The four-masted schooner John Twohy, which went aground west of the bar buoy, while being towed into this port by the U. S. revenue cutter Seminole last week, now lies on Battery Island flats, in 29 feet of water. At 6 A. M. today, the cutter Seminole and the tugs Gladiator and Columbia began the work of freeing the Twohy from where the schooner lay aground, 600 feet west of the channel, and at 7:45 A. M. the vessel floated. While the Twohy was towed in on an ebb tide there was not the slightest sign of touching at any place coming in. Captain Pepper was on the schooner. Work of pumping out the schooner is being done, and if successful, the vessel will be taken to Wilmington, and the cargo which is a valuable one of lumber, will be discharged.

FAIR BLUFF ITEMS.

Big Sales of Tobacco—Building and Other Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Fair Bluff, N. C., Oct. 15.—Your correspondent made a flying visit here this morning and finds that her three tobacco warehouses handled over two and a half million pounds of tobacco the past season at an average of about 16 1-2 cents per pound. This goes to show what kind of business is done here. Cotton is also sold here in large quantities and very often more than the quoted price at Wilmington is paid, as was the case here this morning.

Mr. A. W. Jenkins is building a new store and bank building of brick, which will cost $2,000. The Methodist people are also erecting a new church of brick which will cost around $6,000.

Friends will be glad to know that Mrs. Geo. A. Powell, who was brought home from Florida in August is still holding her own and her many friends are hopeful of her recovery.

Lumber river is overflowing its banks and Mr. I. M. Powell tells your correspondent that people are now going into the lowlands where there are hills that are not covered with water and catching o'possums and rabbits without the aid of dog or gun.

AMERICANS WIN.

First and Second Place Taken in Balloon Race.

Paris, Oct. 15.—Official announcement was made today of the victory of the American balloon Goodyear in the international race for the James Gordon Bennett cup. The last competitor, the Frankfurt, representing Austria, was reported this morning as having landed at Sougeal, near Saint Malo, on the English Channel.

The American aeronauts also secured second place with the balloon piloted by Captain H. E. Honeywell, while Italy was third with the balloon of Signor Pastime.

London, Oct. 15.—The will of the late J. Pierpont Morgan was probated here today. His estate in the British Isles amounted to a total of $5,899,155. The government will receive about $950,000 in death duties.

Pimples Source of Great Danger

May be Means of Absorbing Disease Germs in Most Unexpected Manner.

Make Your Blood Pure and Immune With S. S. S.

In thousands of instances the most virulent types of blood troubles have been the result of coming in contact with disease germs in public places, and the apparently insignificant pimple has been the cause. It spreads with astonishing rapidity, often infecting the entire system in a few days.

It is fortunate, however, that there is a remedy to cope quickly and thoroughly with such a condition, and thanks to the energy of its producers the famous S. S. S. may now be had at most any drug store in the civilized world.

This preparation stands alone as a blood purifier. It is somewhat revolutionary in its composition, since it accomplishes all that was ever claimed for mercery, iodides, arsenic, and other destructive mineral drugs, and yet it is absolutely a purely vegetable product. It contains one ingredient which serves the active purpose of stimulating each tiny cellular part of the tissues to the healthy and judicious selection of its own essential nutriment. There are more cases of articular rheumatism, locomotor ataxia, paresis, neuritis, and similar diseases resultant from the use of minerals than most people are aware of. These facts are brought out in a highly interesting book compiled by the medical department of The Swift Specific Co., 217 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. It is mailed free, together with special information, to all who write describing their symptoms.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. to-day, but be careful not to have something palmed off on you falsely claimed to be "just as good."

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE United States for the Eastern District of North Carolina.—In the matter of J. D. McArthur, Voluntary Bankrupt.—To the Creditors of J. D. McArthur, of Parkton, in the County of Robeson and District aforesaid, bankrupt:

Notice is hereby given that on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1913, the said J. D. Money Saved by Making Your Cough Syrup at Home

Takes But a Few Moments, and Stops a Hard Cough in a Hurry.

Cough medicines, as a rule, contain a large quantity of plain syrup. If you take one pint of granulated sugar, add ½ pint of warm water and stir about 2 minutes, you have as good syrup as money could buy.

If you will then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup, you will have as much cough syrup as you could buy ready made for $2.50. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours. It keeps perfectly.

You will find it one of the best cough syrups you ever used—even in whooping cough. You can feel it take hold—usually conquers an ordinary cough in 24 hours. It is just laxative enough, has a good tonic effect, and the taste is pleasant.

It is a splendid remedy, too, for whooping cough, spasmodic croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most vaulable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and other healing pine elements. No other preparation will work in this formula.

This plan for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup is now used in more homes than any other cough remedy. The plan has often been imitated but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

HONORS FOR WILMINGTONIAN

Mr. W. J. Craig, of Atlantic Coast Line, Elected President of American Association of Passenger Traffic Officers.

Information was received in the city yesterday that Mr. W. J. Craig, passenger traffic manager of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, had been elected president of the American Association of Passenger Traffic Officers, at its Philadelphia meeting which convened there on Tuesday.

Mr. Craig has been for the past year vice president of the association which has heretofore been known as the American Association of General Passenger and Ticket Agents, but its corporate name has been changed as indicated above.

This is the highest honor that can be conferred upon a passenger traffic manager in this country by his associates and co-workers in the same line of business, as this is an organization composed entirely of heads of departments in this line, and Mr. Craig will be heartily congratulated from all portions of the union, not only by members of the association, but by subordinate officers and passenger men who are in the same line of work but belong to other organizations.

Wilmington is to be congratulated upon having one of its citizens as president of this important association, the members of which do so much towards advertising the sections traversed by their respective roads and the promotion of travel.

MOST COMMENDABLE ACTION.

Colored Organization Makes Generous Donation to Hospital.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Managers of the James Walker Memorial Hospital yesterday afternoon, the members received with more than a usual degree of satisfaction and gratification a donation of $50 from the United Sons and Daughters of Salem, a colored organization, the same to be used in any way which the managers seem fit to use it for the alleviation of suffering. The acting secretary, Mr. DeWitt C. Love, was instructed to acknowledge the same with the thanks of each member of the board. The correspondence is given herewith:

"Wilmington, N. C., Oct. 1, 1913.

"To the James Walker Memorial Hospital Board:

"Gentlemen:—We, the Grand Lodge of the United Sons and Daughters of Salem, a secret organization, but one whose principles admit of and encourage benevolence not only towards our own members, but to humanity in general.

"We are striving for the betterment of conditions in every way; and feeling that the sick, first of all, need succor, deemed it advisable to present the Hospital with $50, with the hope that it may, through the blessings of Almighty God help to alleviate suffering and carry good cheer to those for whom it has been donated.

"We give it into the hands of the board, feeling assured that they are in position to know where it is most needed, and therefore are not requesting nor suggesting any especial disposition to be made of it.

Yours most sincerely,

"Mrs. Rachel Freeman, Grand Pres.
"Mrs. M. J. Nixon, Grand Vice Pres.
"Miss F. E. Telfair, Grand Sec.
"Mr. Joseph Pickett, Grand Treas.
"Mr. J. M. Power, Endowment Sec.
"Rev. J. J. McIntyre, Grand Chaplain
"Mr. Alex. Carr, Grand Orator.
"Messrs. W. J. Newkirk, Chas. King and J. M. Mattox, Grand Marshals."

The acting secretary, Mr. Love, replied as follows:

"To the Grand Lodge of the United Sons and Daughters of Salem.

"I am directed by the Board of Managers of the James Walker Memorial Hospital to acknowledge receipt of your check for $50, which you have so generously donated for the alleviation of suffering. Each member of the board appreciates the spirit of the donation and begs to assure you that the money will be used where it is most needed.

"DeWITT C. LOVE,
"Acting Secretary."

THE RECORDER'S COURT.

Harry Graham, Colored, Sent to Roads for Vagrancy.

Busy days these for most people, but Harry Graham, colored, couldn't find anything to do and consequently the Recorder sent him to the county roads for 30 days yesterday on a charge of vagrancy. Rosa Oatner, colored, will have to serve the same length of time on the county farm on a similar charge. Edner Williams, colored, wasn't guilty of vagrancy and was discharged. Dave Sidberry, colored, was alleged to have used a pair of brass knucks on one Allen Arnold, colored, and was fined $25 and the costs.

Jim Brown, colored, who had a preliminary hearing Tuesday before Justice Harriss, was tried on a charge of selling whiskey. It was alleged that he entered into a contract to furnish a pint of whiskey to one Johnson for 75 cents to be delivered at Eighth and Nixon. The whiskey was delivered to Johnson's brother, but there was no evidence to show that it was Brown that delivered it as the witness said he was too drunk to know anything. Judgment was left open, and Brown went to jail.

Bertram Levane, colored, charged with the larceny of chewing gum and candy from a confectionery store, was discharged with the understanding that the case would be taken up again if certain witnesses could be found. A case against Jim Nance, colored, charged with the temporary larceny of an automobile from Mr. Thos. E. Cooper, was continued until today. It is said that Nance used the automobile Monday to carry some of his friends to the circus, and was having a joy ride when arrested by the police. Judgment was suspended upon payment of the costs in a case against John Williams, white, charged with disorderly conduct.

DR. WOOD IN RALEIGH.

Local Specialist Will Speak on Pellagra in Capital City Tonight.

The following is from yesterday's Raleigh News and Observer:

"Dr. Edward Jenner Wood, of Wilmington, will be the guest of the Wake County Medical Society when it meets here tomorrow.

"Dr. Wood will read a paper on pellagra and will illustrate it with lantern slides. He is an authority on pellagra and recently published a book on the disease which has caused the medical world so much concern within the last five years. The public is invited to hear the address, the time and the place of tomorrow's meeting being announced later.

"Doctor Wood is one of the younger physicians of North Carolina, but has won high place in the medical world and among the best known of the practitioners and specialists of today."

ANNUAL BAPTIST MEETING

Wilmington Association in Session at Teacheys' Adjourns Today—Reports of Church Work Show Progress.

The largest attended meeting that the Wilmington Baptist Association has had in several years is now in session at Teacheys and will adjourn today. The first session was held Tuesday morning when Rev. J. A. Sullivan, pastor of Brooklyn Baptist church, Wilmington, preached an eloquent and inspiring sermon. This was followed by the organization of the association with Rev. W. G. Hall, pastor of Southside Baptist church, Wilmington, as moderator.

The other officers elected were Rev. W. B. Rivenbark, of Wallace, vice modrator; Mr. S. F. Garrison, secretary; Mr. F. P. Powers, of Wallace, treasurer. Mr. G. E. Leftwich, of Wilmington, moderator at the last meeting, was prevented from attending on account of pressing business interests.

At the afternoon session Tuesday Rev. W. M. Craig, of Wilmington, made the report on Sunday Schools, which showed that increased interest is being taken in this work. Rev. J. A. Sullivan, of Wilmington, presented the orphanage cause. At the night session Tuesday, Rev. W. G. Hall, of Wilmington, made the report on foreign missions, and Rev. J. M. Beck, of Sloop Point, made the report on educational work.

Yesterday morning the opening services were conducted by Rev. R. M. VonMiller, of Jacksonville, after which Rev. J. D. Hocut made the report on the Biblical Recorder. At the afternoon session the report on State missions prepared by Rev. Dr. J. H. Foster, of Wilmington, was read. Rev. W. B. Rivenbark made the report on home missions. All reports showed that the Wilmington association is making splendid progress along all lines of religious work.

There will be a session this morning after which the meeting will come to a close. It has been largely attended, there being many more present than could get into the church. An enjoyable feature has been the splendid dinners served on the grounds each day. There has been a general spiritual uplift manifested throughout the sessions, and the meeting will go down in its history of 12 years as the most successful from every standpoint that it has ever had. The delegates have been entertained in splendid style by the people of Teacheys.

The women of the association met in the Presbyterian church at Teachys. Mrs. G. E. Leftwich presided. Questions of special interest to them were discussed, and their sessions proved to be most profitable.

PARK COMMISSION MEETS

Improvement of Postoffice Plaza Discussed—Citizens of City Invited to Give Suggestive Ideas for Park.

The improvement of the postoffice plaza which was recently turned over to the city by the Federal authorities to be used as a park, was the principal matter discussed at the first meeting of the Park and Tree Commission yesterday at noon in the Public Library at the City Hall. It was decided not to take any definite action until the citizens of the city can have the opportunity to present any suggestions that they may care to make.

The meeting was called by Mr. John J. Blair, chairman of the commission. The members present besides the chairman were Miss Julia Parsley, Miss Katie Grainger and Mr. H. deW. Rapalje. Mr. Adam Empie, the other member of the commission, was absent from the city.

The plan prepared by the city engineer for walks and improvements on the postoffice park was thoroughly considered by the commission, as was also a plan prepared by Mr. Herman Vogles, of Castle Haynes. The commission approved in a general way the lay-out suggested by the city engineer, but did not adopt any definite scheme for planting trees or shrubbery. It was felt by the members present that as many suggestions and plans as could be secured from interested citizens, would be useful in deciding these matters.

Any person having ideas in regard to the improvement of this park and the best type of trees to be planted, is requested by the commission to put their suggestions in writing together with plans or sketches and to leave same at the office of the city engineer in the City Hall, addressed to the Tree and Park Commission, City of Wilmington.

FUNERAL OF MRS. KUHL.

Services from Residence Yesterday Morning—Interment in Bellevue.

The funeral of Mrs. Lillian Blanche Kuhl, wife of Mr. C. L. Kuhl, whose death occurred Tuesday afternoon at the James Walker Memorial Hospital, was held yesterday morning from the residence, No. 604 Nixon street, conducted by Rev. Dr. J. M. Wells, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. The services were attended by many friends. The interment was in Bellevue cemetery. Many floral offerings attested the love and esteem in which she was held among her neighbors and friends. The pallbearers were Messrs. J. C. McAllister, J. M. Hall, H. A. Everitt, J. W. Orrell, J. S. Lane and Harry L. Dixon.

Fishing Has Been Fine.

Though the stormy weather of last week wrought considerable hardship upon shipping on this coast, it nevertheless served one good end, at least in the minds of the fishermen of this locality. The hundreds of Wilmingtonians who are followers of Uncle Izaak's creed enjoyed some excellent sport following the bad weather, and the pier at the Seashore Hotel at Wrightsville Beach has been crowded with anglers daily. The run of puppy drum, or small channel bass, has been one of the largest ever known on the beach and hundreds of these fish have been caught during the last week. From now on the Fall fishing, the best of the year, should be at its height, and the local anglers are expecting to have some fine sport.

COUNTY SOLONS IN SESSION

Several Matters Passed Upon by Commissioners in Adjourned Meeting—Resolutions as to the Sale of Bonds.

The Board of County Commissioners were in adjourned session for two hours yesterday afternoon. Primarily the meeting was held for the purpose of passing some resolutions with regard to the sale of the $275,000 school and roads bonds which were recently purchased by the local banks. Now that all the formal resolutions necessary have been adopted by the Board of Education and Commissioners and all the information requested has been furnished, it is expected that the bonds will be ready for delivery in a short time.

Mr. W. McD. Evans, a justice of the peace, appeared before the board and complained that he had experienced considerable difficulty in getting papers served through the sheriff's office, the delay being explained to him at the sheriff's office by the statement that the deputies were overrun with work and simply could not get to his papers sooner. He said that prior to the enactment of the salary law, which places the deputy sheriffs as well as other county officers under the salary system, he was privileged to deputize men to serve his papers and therefore had no trouble in getting them executed on time and asked if it would be lawful for him to do this now. The county attorneys advised that a magistrate would have the right to deputize a man to execute a paper in case of emergency, but that it would not be legal to have a deputized officer around all the time to execute his papers.

Mr. Bonham, of Harnett township, was before the board to request the county to deepen Downey branch for about 1,000 yards from the point where it crosses the shell road so that the water entering the stream from the ditches on either of the shell roads, draining Winter Park Gardens, would not overflow his land. He said that he did not have any trouble until the county cleaned out the ditches on the shell road and the residents at Winter Park Gardens drained their property into these ditches. The request was referred to the county road superintendent.

Dr. John Thames, assistant county superintendent of health, making an adverse report the board declined to place Mr. Joseph Gray, of Delgado, on the out-door poor list.

Chairman Willard said that Mr. J. L. Turner, a member of the Sanford police force, had filed with him an affidavit to the effect that he alone was responsible for the capture of Thos. Dupree, the negro murderer, and claimed the entire reward of $50 offered by the county, but that Mr. S. D. Strickland, for many years a valued engineer of the Coast Line, had given notice that he had a prominent part in the capture and also claimed the reward. Chairman Willard said that nothing would be done toward paying the reward until the question of who is entitled to receive it has been settled. The affidavit of Officer Turner was filed for record.

A communication was read from Sheriff Cowan in reply to the request made of him by the board that he appoint Mr. H. Mack Godwin as deputy sheriff for the collection of back fines and costs from the Recorder's court. Sheriff Cowan declined to make the appointment and cited the Commissioners to one or two local laws which he held bore on the matter. It was the sense of the meeting that there is nothing in the laws cited to prevent the sheriff from complying with the request and also that the sheriff has just taken this position because he does not want to accede to the request. The chairman was authorized to reply to the communication to this effect.

After some discussion the following resolution bearing on the subject was adopted upon motion of Commissioner McGirt:

"Resolved, That the constable, regular and special police officers be allowed 10 per cent. for collections or 10 per cent. due where the defendants are sent to the roads to work out fines and costs of the list of delinquents furnished by Albert H. Marsh in December, 1912."

Mr. H. Mack Godwin, it was stated, is a special police officer.

Upon recommendation of the county auditor and county attorneys, as the law provides, an allowance of $200 was made the sheriff for additional help in the collection of taxes in the county and $240 for collection in the city. Two outside men are to be employed in the city at $12 a week.

In accordance with authority given in a bill passed at the special session of the Legislature, the bond of the county auditor for handling the county fund was fixed at $50,000 for the present and for the school fund it was reduced from $80,000 to $25,000. This will mean a saving to the county of several hundred dollars a year as the premiums on the bonds of the county auditor are paid by the county.

Chamber of Commerce.

The regular monthly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Last Thursday was the time for the meeting, but it was postponed. There will likely be a number of matters to come up this afternoon, among which will probably be a report by the committee which went to Raleigh to confer with Governor Craig with reference to the freight rate situation. A large attendance of the members is expected.

MACON, GA., CHILD.

Made Strong and Well by Vinol.

When we tell you that Vinol is the best remedy in our whole stock for making weak, puny, ailing children strong, robust and rosy we are only telling you what has been proved by hundreds of mothers.

J. L. Fickling, Macon, Ga., says:

"My child was very thin and delicate, no appetite, nervous and did not sleep well. Doctors did not help her. Vinol was recommended and the change after a fair trial was wonderful. She sleeps soundly all night, has a splendid appetite and has gained in weight. I wish every mother knew what Vinol will do for delicate children."

What Vinol did for this little girl it will do for every weak and ailing child because sickly children need the strengthening cod liver elements and the tonic iron that Vinol contains—that is why Vinol builds them up quickly and gives them a fine, healthy color. It is pleasant to take and we guarantee that the results will satisfy you—money back if they do not.—Robt. R. Bellamy, druggist, Wilmington, N. C.

LIVE SESSION OF COUNCIL

Regular Meeting Yesterday Morning Took on Some of Old-Time Vigor—Couple of Clashes the Feature.

After a brief period of comparative quiet and serenity in municipal circles, the regular weekly meeting of the City Council yesterday morning proved to be a rather lively one, the usual line of demarkation being noted in the discussion on the several questions under consideration that drew the fire from both sides. There were two distinct clashes between the Mayor and as many members of the Council.

The discussion started when Councilman Wood introduced an amendment to the ordinance prohibiting the use of the sidewalks or any part thereof for the display of merchandise, goods and wares. It was specifically stated in the amendment that there should be nothing in the ordinance to operate against the use by merchants of two feet of the sidewalk in front of their stores for the display of their goods. In other words, it allowed the use of the sidewalks for the display of goods.

Feels the Disgrace.

"I wish to say a few words on the amendment," said Mayor Moore. "As Mayor of the city I feel keenly the disgrace that the Mayor cannot enforce any law but that this Council attempts to repeal that law. I do not believe there is anybody in Wilmington with the exception of an interested few, who want to go back to the condition that prevailed here a few years ago when the sidewalks were congested with boxes, chicken coops, etc. Last week I discovered that Mr. John Plummer was using a portion of the sidewalk in front of his store for display of his goods. I immediately sent the chief of police to notify him to clear the sidewalk in 30 minutes. I firmly believe that this incident is what caused this amendment to the ordinance to be introduced this morning."

"Hold on there," interrupted Councilman Wood, "no insinuations. Mr. Plummer had nothing whatever to do with the introduction of this amendment. Mr. Munn is the first person, I think, to mention the matter to me."

Wihout paying any attention to the interruption of the Councilman further than to ask him to keep quiet until he had finished Mayor Moore continued, saying that he was going to enforce the law and asked City Attorney Bryan if there was not a State law that superceded any ordinance that might be passed by Council giving privilege to use the streets. City Attorney Bryan replied by saying that the Council could allow the use of the sidewalks without specifying to the number of feet and that any indictment that might be brought would have to be under the State law for nuisance. He did not believe that the Council would have a right to say to the merchants that they could use two or four feet of the sidewalk.

"Then," said Mayor Moore, "I will rule that this amendment is out of order on advice of the city attorney, because it stipulates two feet."

But the discussion continued for a bit yet. Councilman Merritt said that every city in the State allows the use of the sidewalks for display of goods. In Wilmington, he said, the streets are not so congested as to interfere with pedestrians if Council allows two feet to be used by merchants.

Councilman Wood, who visited the State Capital recently, said that he did not see why Wilmington should be any nicer than the State Capital, where some of the merchants take as much as four feet of the sidewalk.

Councilman Loughlin opposed the amendment. He took the position that no matter what other towns do unless of progressive nature it should not affect the action of the Wilmington Council. If the people of Wilmington want a clean Front street, it does not matter to them if Fayetteville street in Raleigh is blocked with chicken coops, boxes, etc. Councilman Loughlin said that what he was trying to do was to build for the entire city.

"Yes, and you have killed it, too," interposed Councilman Wood.

Councilman Loughlin continued by saying that there was no big demand for a return to old conditions, that there are only a few merchants who are asking for the privilege. He said that the merchants have no right to two feet in front of their stores, no more right than they have to two feet in front of their homes for a flower garden. He declared that it would be a step backwards, if the amendment to the ordinance were adopted.

Mayor Moore repeated what he had said before, that under the ruling of the city attorney he would refuse to consider the ordinance.

Councilman Merritt then asked the city attorney if the Council could repeal the entire ordinance bearing on the question which would leave the city in the position of neither granting nor denying the use of the sidewalks. The city attorney said that this could be done. As there was objection, the matter went over until the next meeting when it will come up again.

Second Clash.

The second controversy arose when Councilman Jones offered an amendment to the ordinance relative to occupancy of the streets for building material. He wanted to change the ordinance by striking out the words "except in the fire limits," so as to make legal any permission granted by the city for the use of streets in the downtown district.

Mayor Moore declared somewhat heatedly that Council "might go ahead and wipe all the ordinances out." He stated that it appeared that the change was desired especially for the benefit of the Cape Fear Hotel Co., which is erecting a hotel at Front and Walnut streets and which already is using on permission from the Mayor, nearly all of Walnut street, between Front and Second, and Walnut, between Front and Nutt.

Councilman Jones aparently a little irritated at the Mayor declared that he had a right as a member of the Council to bring up an amendment to an ordinance without its being made a personal matter; that he was not afraid to exercise his privilege in such matters and was going to continue to do so as long as he was a member of the body. So far as the ordinance having been drafted especially for the Cape Fear Hotel Co., he had not had any talk whatever with Mr. Green, the proprietor, in regard to the matter. He remarked further that under the present ordinance the Mayor did not have the legal right to grant to the hotel the use of Walnut street, but if the change were made as suggested he would have the authority. It was finally decided to amend the ordinance by adding "except upon permission of the Mayor."

As chairman of the committee appointed to confer with the city attorney with regard to his salary and other compensation, Councilman Jones made report, fixing the salary at $1,000 a year from June 1st, 1913, and allowing reasonable fees for appearance in litigation in the courts and commission for collection of back taxes. Mayor Moore suggested that the Council give him a flat salary, for under the terms of the recommendation Council had no way of telling whether he would receive $1,000 or $10,000 a year. He was under the impression that the agreement was that the $1,000 salary was all the compensation the city attorney was to receive. Councilmen Chadwick and Loughlin were of the same opinion, though both agreed that the amount proposed was inadequate for the work to be done. City Attorney Bryan said that it was preposterous on its face that he would undertake the entire work of the office for $1,000 a year. He told the Council in as many words that he would not take the place on a basis of $1,000 for all the work. Objection having been raised to the adoption of the report the question went over until the next meeting, when it will likely be adopted.

A communication was received from Mr. E. T. Taylor calling attention to the condition of the sidewalk on north side of Orange street, between Fourth and Fifth, and asking that it be improved. The matter was referred to the chief of police for investigation. The Tidewater Power Company with drew its application for an additional track at 17th and Market streets as a new route will be adopted in entering Carolina Heights and Carolina Place. The ordinance permitting the installation of underground gasoline tanks upon approval of plans and specifications by the Council was passed on its second and final reading.

Report was received from the City Civil Service Commission stating that at the examination held on September 29th two applicants for positions passed and are now eligible for election. Leander Justice passed the examination for a place in the police department and David G. Wright in the fire department.

Councilman Merritt reported that the heavy rains of last week caused a number of washouts in the city and that the street department is busy making repairs.

Asks Bids for Deep Wells.

The proposition of sinking deep wells from which to obtain the public water supply took more definite shape at the meeting yesterday. Councilman Wood, who has advocated deep wells at nearly every meeting since he became a member of Council, insisted upon definite action, one way or the other, and it was finally decided to authorize Councilman Wood to advertise for bids from persons or firms desiring to submit proposals to sink wells under a guarantee to furnish 3,000,000 gallons of water every 24 hours. Councilman Wood stated that at least one well man had offered to sink the wells under a guarantee, the city to pay nothing until the wells have been tested and found to meet the requirements. For the information of his colleagues, Councilman Wood submitted a detailed statement showing that it cost the city now to filter the water $1,200 a month or $14,400 a year, most of which is for chemicals used in treating the water. He had no doubt but that it would be one-third more when the sewage from the extensions of the sewerage system is emptied into the river. The filtering expense would be done away with entirely or reduced to a minimum with deep wells, said Councilman Wood. Bids will be asked for immediately by Councilman Wood. The present consumption of water is about 2,000,000 gallons a day and Councilman Wood considers that if the deep wells will afford a supply of 3,000,000 a day it will be sufficient for many years to come. Of course, additional wells may be drilled from time to time as they are needed.

No Flat Rate for Council.

By request Councilman Wood again brought up the question of flat water rates, which he advocated quite vigorously at the beginning of his term in office, but finally gave up the fight as he realized that it was hopeless with all the other members of the body against him in this matter. He said that he had been approached by a number of citizens who stated that they would ask for an election on the question if the Council did not decide to adopt the flat rate system. Councilman Wood desired, in view of the prospects of an election on the question, that the Council say whether or not it would make the change. He thought that a majority of the voters would vote in favor of the flat rate. When members of Council began to protest against the flat rate, Councilman Wood then urged that the city purchase 2,000 additional meters so that all the patrons of the department could be put on the same basis, this number of consumers of the city water being on flat rates at present. Both Councilmen Merritt and Loughlin spoke against the flat rate system. Councilman Loughlin said it had proven unsatisfactory in every city where it had been adopted. He made the point that if Wilmington adopts the flat rate system it would be necessary to increase the water plant as there would be a wanton waste of water. Councilman Merritt said that the thing for the city to do is to go right on charging the same rates for water and sewerage as now in vogue until the bonded indebtedness of the plants can be paid off, then the rates may be reduced to a point where the revenue will just about equal the expenses for maintenance.

Following the regular meeting a conference was held for the discussion of several matters.

MOTOR BOATING.

Surprise That Sport is No More Popular Here Than It Is.

Astonishment has long been expressed here that there has been no development of motor boating. Taking in the two branches of the Cape Fear river and the numerous navigable tributaries, like Town Creek, Long Creek and others, there are at least 400 miles of protected navigable water, affording the finest cruising, fishing or hunting trips imaginable. In this connection, it is a pleasure for The Star to announce another industry promoted by the Cape Fear Machine Works for Wilmington. They have just completed an arrangement for the regular manufacture of motor boats and the department will be in charge of Mr. F. Cahill, of Long Island, N. Y., who has had long practical experience in the business. They propose to build some favorite sizes of boats, to keep in stock and furnish the boat complete or install any engine to order. Mr. Cahill will return here in about ten days ready for business. The company has purchased part of the necessary stock of timber, planking, fittings, etc. There are now but few motor boats belonging to this port, but this enterprise will give impetus to the development of the sport.

PRETTY SURPRISE WEDDING A ELIZABETHTOWN, N. C.

Elizabethtown, N. C., Oct. 15.—To the surprise of all but a few intimate friends of the happy couple the Methodist parsonage was the scene of a very pretty but quiet wedding tonight at 9 o'clock, when Miss Eliza Biggs, the daughter of Rev. George H. Biggs, pastor of the First Methodist church here, was married to Mr. J. Alden Lyon, son of Judge C. C. Lyon. The vows were administered by Rev. Mr. Biggs, father of the bride, assisted by Rev. W. W. Davidson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, and intimate friends of the groom. Only members of the families were present. Mr. and Mrs. Lyon went immediately to their new home on Craig street, where everything had been arranged to receive the happy couple. Long life and happiness is the wish of their host of friends in this community.

The Music Department of Sorosis held its first meeting of the Fall yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Public Library. It was an organization meeting and largely attended. Mrs. J. D. Edwards, head of the department, outlined plans for the work during the Fall and Winter months, which were enthusiastically endorsed. It was decided to have several musical entertainments during the year, which will be open to the public. It is believed that these entertainments will meet with the hearty approval of the people of the city as the recitals given in former years by the Piano Club were always largely attended. The question of holding a music festival in the Spring was discussed, and it was the opinion of all that this should be done. It is likely that plans will be made to this end within a short time. The next programme of the Music Department will be devoted to Russian music. It will be given in the morning instead of the afternoon as has been the custom heretofore in order that those who teach music may be able to attend.

INTEREST INCREASING IN BETTER BABIES CONTEST.

Great interest is being shown in the Better Babies Contest which will be held in connection with the Fine Arts and Industrial Exhibit on November 11th, 12th and 13th. Many inquiries have been received from those who desire to enter their babies in the contest. In order to facilitate matters the drug stores of the city have kindly offered their services in assisting the ladies of Sorosis in getting the babies registered.

All that is required is that the mother register her name, address and baby's name, age and sex. Suitable books for registration have been placed in the drug stores. The contest is for physical development only. The babies are weighed, measured and thoroughly examined by physicians, and the results placed on cards. Those measuring the required number of inches and pounds are scored at 100. All those who register over 90 will be exhibited and photographed. The pictures will be sent to the Woman's Home Companion to be published.

The sweepstake prizes including a medal will be given by the Woman's Home Companion while Sorosis will give prizes including silver spoons, cups, etc.

As soon as a sufficient number of registrations are made to justify holding the contest the names will be filed and cards mailed to the mothers making appointments for examination, the time and place to be announced later.

PRIZES TO BE AWARDED TO SCHOOL CHILDREN.

All children who expect to take part in the competitions for prizes at the New Hanover Fine Arts and Industrial Exhibit should enter their names at once. There will be all kinds of exhibits including everything from babies to choice preserves, art needle work and canned goods. The public will no doubt rally with enthusiasm to the aid of Sorosis in helping to make this event such a success that it will result in having a county fair held annually. The school children are especially urged to lend their efforts helping to this end.

A list of prizes to be awarded to children competing is as follows:

Best school march—Music roll.

Best drawing by Grammar school—Drawing outfit.

Best Drawing by High School—Drawing outfit.

Best water-color by Grammar school—Box of water-colors.

Best water-color by High School—Box of water-colors.

Button-hole and darning contest (open to children under 12 years)—Work box and darning outfit.

Best strictly tailored shirtwaist (open to girls from 12 to 18 years)—Set of shirtwaist pins.

Best dozen cookies or doughnuts—Silk hose.

Best wrapped and full-weight one-pound home-made candy (open to children 12 to 18)—Aluminium candy kettle and spoon.

Best home-made fireless cooker (open to boys from 12 to 18)—$5 in gold.

Best contrivance to be used in kitchen (open to boys under 12 years)—Two dollars.

Best contrivance to be used elsewhere about house or yard—$2.

Best original story written by child under 18 years—Book.

Best biographical sketch written by child under 18 years—Book.

Best historical sketch written by child under 18 years—Book.

Best piece of art needle work—Embroidery scissors.

These prizes are quite worth striving for and it is believed that there will be a large number of entries in each. The details of the exhibit are being explained to the school children this week and they are showing much interest.

..Theatrical..

Thomas Dixon's noted sensational play, "The Leopard Spots," will be at the Academy today for matinee and night, and indications point to two large audiences. The sale of seats has been large and the orders from out of the city have been especially big.

Large theatre parties will be here from many places on the different roads leading out of Wilmington. The matinee performance will begin this afternoon at 3 o'clock, doors opening an hour previous to that time, and tonight the curtain will rise promptly at 8:30 o'clock. Seats for tonight can be reserved at J. Hicks Bunting's drug store.

"The Leopard's Spots" is Thomas Dixon's stage version of his famous book of that name, and is heralded as the big sensation of the present theatrical season. Mr. Dixon's former plays were genuinely sensational.

The new play is said to contain some dramatic surprises and startling situations. It is of unusual historic interest as well, the action covering a period of over 25 years, showing several different phases of the negro situation in the South, and other social and political conditions. The story is told in a prologue and three acts, the scene of the former being laid in the old home of Tom Camp, the crippled Confederate soldier; the first act on the lawn of Gen. Worth's old fashioned home; the second act in the office of the "Daily Afro-American," a negro newspaper, while the last act shows the interior of Gen. Worth's home.

An attractive feature of the play is the change from the old fashioned costumes worn in the prologue to modern dress in the three acts, since there is a lapse of 26 years between the prologue and the first act.

"The Little Millionare" Saturday.

Geo. M. Cohan's musical farce "The Little Millionaire" interpreted by a fine cast and beauty chorus, will be presented at the Academy of Music Saturday, matinee and night, with Bert Leigh and Hazele Burgess as its stars.

Geo. M. Cohan's name has come to stand for all that is best in the amusement world. Any play to which his signature is attached is a guarantee for clean, healthy entertainment presented with the speed that typifies the accelerated pace of young America, yet put forth in an atmosphere of melody and mirth that is distinctly attractive.

"The Little Millionaire" is one of these. It is a musical farce that is absolutely free from vulgarity, yet containing insistent laugh-compelling qualities that have easily made it the most talked about play Mr. Cohan has so far presented to the American stage.

A scale of popular prices will prevail for the engagement and seats will go on sale at J. Hicks Bunting's drug store tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock. For the matinee the prices will be 25 and 50 cents to any part of the theatre. At night the lower floor will be $1, while the balcony will be 50 and 75 cents, with the gallery 25 cents.

Big Day at Bijou.

Everything fitted in well to make yesterday a big day at the popular Bijou. The day was pretty, the Bijou had a great bill, including a special Warner feature, and the crowds were huge and were delighted. Today's bill will be another big winner, headed by a special two-reel release, Kalem's "The Sacrifice at the Sillway", which is a story of life on a big canal, with a beautiful love theme running throughout. It is filled with exciting incidents, and the scene when the discharged canal boat captain endeavors to send the boat of his rival over the falls is the greatest piece of spectacular work, as well as most thrilling, ever produced in moving pictures. Well known, popular Thespians appear in the principal roles of the drama.

Another great hit on today is Lubin's "His Last Crooked Deal". It is the story of a gambler, who reforms, but when his wife is taken sick plays the cards, and plays them crookedly, just one time more. It is a touching story, one with a big moral. Folks just can't afford to miss today's swell Bijou offering.

The Handsome Grand.

Still more delightfulness at the cozy, handsome Grand theatre today. One can always fill his or her cup of happiness to overflowing at this up-to-date amusement spot, where all is ever brightness and solid comfort reigns. "Bonnie of the Hills" Essanay's latest, tops today's big show and it is one of the most magnetic dramatics ever offered. It is a story of the West, in which a pretty young Western girl, a daring cowboy and an Easterner, or "tenderfoot" play the leading roles. There are several sensational scenes during the progress of the film.

There is another Western photoplay on today that has made a tremendous hit. It is Pathe's "The Price of Jealousy," which is the story of the Indians, who steal a young white woman through the jealousy of a rival. All ends well, however, and everybody is happy. "A Modest Hero" is a Biograph scream film for today, and will furnish plenty of sunshine. It is a mother-in-law laugh producer. Always 5c and at all times comfortable.

CELEBRATION POSTPONED.

Bishop Haid Will Observe His 25th Anniversary Next April.

Rev. Father C. Dennen announced at St. Mary's Pro-Cathedral Sunday that the date of the observance of the 25th anniversary of Bishop Leo Haid's 25th anniversary of his Episcopal Consecration had been postponed from November 9th, the date announced two weeks ago, until next April. The change was made because Bishop Haid will leave in April for his Apostolic visit to Rome, and it was desired to have the celebration just prior to his departure.

The celebration of Bishop Haid's jubilee will be held in St. Mary's Pro-Cathedral in this city. He has been in charge of the See of North Carolina for 25 years, and his Apostolic labors have been abundantly blessed. In 1888, when he began his labors in this State, there were 14 churches, seven priests, two schools and two colleges. Now there are 40 churches, 34 priests, five charitable institutions, 10 schools and three colleges. The membership has trebled, having increased from 2,500 to more than 7,000. It is expected that the celebration will be attended by many distinguished church dignitaries, among these being His Eminence, Cardinal Gibbons, Supreme Knight J. H. Flaherty, and the famous Benedictine brother, Don Gasquet.

The latter is at the head of the commission appointed by the Pope to revise the Latin Vulgate Bible. His home is in England, and he is spending some time in this country.

Real Estate Transfers.

Deeds were filed for record yesterday as follows: The Wilmington Suburban Co. to Geo. P. Galvin and wife, for $100 and other considerations, lot on east side of Fourth street, 198 feet south of Greenfield, 49x150 feet in size; D. W. Bender to W. L. Mitchell and wife, for $150, 42 1-2 acres of land on Myrtle Grove Sound, adjoining lands of K. C. and J. D. Southerland; W. G. Fergus and wife to E. Hawkins and wife, for $100, 1 3-4 acres of land, on the old military road.

HEARING TOMORROW.

Question of Improving Northeast River to be Considered.

In the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock there will be held an important hearing before a committee of the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors on the proposed improvement of the Northeast branch of the Cape Fear river for a distance of about three miles above the Hilton bridge. The committee will be composed of four United States engineers, Maj. H W. Stickle, of this city, and three others who will arrive here tomorrow morning.

The manufacturing plants on the river above the bridge have petitioned the government to deepen the channel to 22 feet for a distance of a mile and a half above the Hilton bridge. The present depth is 16 feet. The water is not sufficient to admit of the passage of the larger steamers that come to the fertilizer factories hereabouts. Those who have plants on this river just above Hilton contend that the commerce, present and in prospect, will justify the government in making the expenditure for the improvement.

At the hearing tomorrow all those interested are invited to be present and give any statements or arguments they may have bearing upon the necessity and propriety of the government entering upon this work.

REUNION ENDS TONIGHT.

Meeting of the Scottish Rite Masons Comes to Close.

With the conferring of the 31st and 32nd degrees this afternoon and tonight and an elaborate banquet this evening, the Fall reunion of the Scottish Rite of Freemasonry will come to a close. The reunion began Monday and each day since has been a busy one for the Masons of this branch of the order. The work yesterday was in the Council of Kadosh and degrees were conferred from the 19th to the 30th, both inclusive. A feature of the work in the higher degrees tonight will be the presence of a large team of Carolina Consistory from Charlotte. They are on their way here now and will reach Wilmington at noon.

OFFICER INDICTED.

Deputy Sheriff Reynolds Charged With Assault With Deadly Weapon.

Deputy Sheriff E. C. Reynolds will have a hearing this morning before Justice Fowler on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. The affidavit in the case was made out by Mr. H. Mack Godwin and is for the purpose of making investigation into an occurrence in Price's alley Saturday night when it is alleged that Deputy Reynolds shot at a negro whose name is not given. It is stated that Deputy Reynolds fired a shot at a negro man, and that the blaze of the powder burned the cheek of a negro woman who was standing near him. He thought at the time, it is said, that he had killed the negro man, and came down to Justice Harriss' office to submit. Messrs. H. Mack Godwin, L. W. Tyndall and others made an investigation but failed to find any dead negro. Deputy Reynolds says that he went to the alley for the purpose of serving a warrant and that the negro shot at him when he returned the shot.

Charged With Trespassing.

W. H. Glenn, white, was arrested last night by the police on a warrant sworn out by Mrs. Maggie Madrin, charging him with trespassing. In default of bond he was placed in the city prison and will have a hearing this morning before the Recorder. It was stated that Glenn went into the home of Mr. Madrin, at No. 309 Harnett street, apparently without any good reason last night about 7:30 o'clock. He was taken to the police station where a warrant was sworn out. Glenn is said by the police to be a stranger here. The police say he was in an intoxicated condition when taken to headquarters and this probably accounts for his unheralded visit to Mr. Madrin's home.

MANN BLOCKED EFFORTS.

Of House Democrats to Recess Three Days.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Republican Leader Mann again today blocked efforts of the House Democrats to recess three days at a time and refused to agree with Majority Leader Underwood that no legislation should be transacted before December 1st, unless the currency bill should return from the Senate before that time.

Mr. Underwood stated that adjournment could not be asked of the Senate because it was the duty of the party to uphold the hands of the President in his desire to expedite currency legislation.

"The President has asked me," said Mr. Underwood, "not to agree to an adjournment until the bill has either passed or some satisfactory arrangement has been made in the Senate."

"There is only one way to settle this," said Mr. Mann, "and that is adjournment of the session. I don't believe there is any more chance of the currency bill being passed in the Senate before December than there is that the sun will not rise tomorrow."

Henry May Goes Down Off Massachusetts Coast.

Washington, Oct. 15.—The sinking of the schooner Henry May on Stone Horse shoal off the Massachusetts coast was reported to the Treasury Department today. The schooner's crew of six men were taken off.

The life saving service was notified today that the surf side station near Nantucket, Mass., rescued five men off the schooner Georgia Pearl, in a surf boat yesterday.

LOCAL DOTS.

—The cotton receipts here yesterday were 4,827 bales; for the same date last year they were 4,674 bales.

—License was issued yesterday for the marriage of Mr. Robt. C. Apple white, Jr., and Miss Lillian Edna Knowles, both of Newberin.

—Suit was instituted in the Recorder's court yesterday by Glover Machine Works against the Town Creek Railroad and Lumber Co. Kenan & Stacy appear for the plaintiff. The complaint has not been filed.

—J. L. Clemmons and G. C. Patterson, young white men, engaged in an affray on Princess street, between Front and Second, shortly after midnight this morning, and for a time there was a lively fracas. They were placed under arrest by Patrolman J. F. Jordan, who sent them to the City Hall. They gave bond in the sum of $25 each for their appearance before the Recorder this morning.

—Marion Green, colored, a convict on the county roads who has been at the James Walker Memorial Hospital for the last five months for treatment, took French leave yesterday morning, and has gone to parts unknown. He is described as a tall, black negro, and had been in the hospital on account of a crippled knee. The officers are keeping a close look out for him. His home is said to be in Columbia, S. C.

MAJ. STEDMAN THERE.

Visited Native Town of Fayetteville Yesterday—Donaldson Football.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Fayetteville, N. C., Oct. 15.—Major Charles M. Stedman, of Greensboro, member of Congress from the Fifth district, is in his native town today, having stopped over here on his way home from Wilmington, where he went to attend the funeral of Mrs. Clayton Giles, a sister of his late wife. Representative Stedman was greeted by many of his old friends, who were delighted to see him.

The Donaldson Military School won the first game of its football season when they defeated the town boys Tuesday by a score of 12 to 0. The Fayetteville team, which was composed in part of former prep. school players, put up a good fight.

W. J. CRAIG ELECTED.

Local Man at Head of Big Association at Closing Session.

Philadelphia, Oct. 15.—W. J. Craig, of Wilmington, N. C., passenger traffic manager of the Atlantic Coast Line, was elected president of the American Association of General Passenger and Ticket Agents at the closing session of the organization's convention here today. W. C. Hope, New York, was chosen secretary, and J. C. Haile, Savannah, Ga., chairman of the executive committee.

COMPLICATION OF WOMAN'S ILLS

Yields to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Athens, Texas.—"I had a complication of diseases, some of them of long standing. I wrote to you for advice and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and some other things that you suggested. I must confess that I am much better in every way and have been relieved of some of the worst troubles. My neighbors say I look younger now than I did fifteen years ago."—Mrs. SARAH R. WHATLEY, Athens, Texas, R. F. D. No. 3. Box 92.

We know of no other medicine which has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women, or received so many genuine testimonials, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In nearly every community you will find women who have been restored to health by this famous medicine. Almost every woman you meet knows of the great good it has been doing among suffering women for the past 30 years.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health, in which many openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, many of them state that it has saved them from surgical operations.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

COTTON MARKET STEADIER

Prices Closed at Net Advance of Two to Ten Points—Offerings Neither Good Nor Aggressive.

New York, Oct. 14.—The cotton market was steadier today on covering and trade buying, with prices closing at a net advance of 2 to 10 points.

Offerings were neither as good nor as aggressive as recently, and there seemed to be some fresh buying on apprehensions of lower temperatures in the Southwest, reports of less active spot offerings from the Eastern belt and a crop estimate of 13,500,000 bales by a member of an international house. Trading was not active, but part of the demand appeared to come from spot houses and reactionists who felt that the market was entitled to a rally after the recent setback of over a cent a pound from the high records of the season.

Cables were lower than due and the early weather map was considered more favorable than expected as temperatures were not low enough to cause any serious apprehension as to the immediate welfare of the plant. The opening here, however, was better than suggested by the showing of Liverpool, and after starting unchanged to 3 points lower the market quickly rallied. Considerable cotton was encountered some six or eight points above the closing figures of last night and slight reactions followed, but the market soon firmed up again on the support from trade sources, renewed covering and reports that Southern selling was much less active than yesterday. Active months sold 14 to 16 points net higher during the afternoon, closing a few points off from the best under realizing. The talk around the ring did not indicate that the bullish crop estimate issued during the early trading had been generally accepted, but it was supposed to have checked the tendency of the trade toward increased crop views, and the market may have been influenced in the late trading by rumors that some of the big spot houses were talking higher prices and that some of last week's sellers were taking profits on a theory that the speculative long interest had been liquidated sufficiently to strengthen the technical position of the market.

Cotton futures closed steady.

ROYAL WEDDING.

Greatest Array of Nobility Since Coronation of King George.

London, Oct. 15.—Prince Arthur of Connaught, son of the Duke of Connaught, Governor General of Canada, was today married to Princess Alexandria Victoria, Duchess of Fife, eldest daughter of the widowed Princess Royal, Louise. The ceremony took place in the ancient chapel of St. James' Palace.

Not since the coronation of King George had there been such a gathering of royalties and notable personages. Besides King George, Queen Mary, Queen Mother Alexandria, the King and Queen of Norway, and other royal relatives of the couple, the congregation consisted of the diplomatic corps, the British cabinet, members of the royal households and a few distinguished civilians. Among the diplomats were Ambassador Walter H. Page, and Mrs. Page. The ambassador, dressed in plain evening clothes, was the only person there who wore neither a decoration nor a uniform.

The ceremony was performed by the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Bishop of London as dean of the chapels royal, and Canon Edgar Sheppard, sub-dean of the chapels royal.

WHEAT MARKET DEPRESSED

Active Campaigning by Bear Leaders Runs Prices Below This Season's Low Records—Other Markets Low.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—Active campaigning by bear leaders carried the wheat market today sharply under the season's previous low price, although the record for depression had been made only the day before. The close was weak, at practically the bottom figures reached, ⅝ to ⅞@⅞ off, compared with last night. Other leading staples, too, all showed declines. Corn, ½ to ¾. Oats, ⅛@1 to 1⅛, and provisions, 7½ to 15.

MILLION DOLLAR SUIT.

Filed Against Wife of Postal Telegraph Company Head.

New York, Oct. 15.—Mrs. Clarence H. MacKay, suffrage leader and wife of the head of the Postal Telegraph Cable Company, broke her silence today regarding the million dollar suit filed against her by Catherine K. Blake, for alleged alienation of the affections of her husband, Dr. Joseph A. Blake, surgeon.

Through her personal counsel, Arthur S. Train, Mrs. MacKay denies all of Mrs. Blake's allegations in a formal answer filed in the Supreme Court and characterizes Mrs. Blake as one who has a "jealous disposition, an ungovernable temper," and "no affection or love for her husband," who at one time, it is alleged, she threatened to kill.

Since 1895, Mrs. MacKay avers, Mrs. Blake has had no affection for the doctor. "On the contrary," the answer continues, "she has sought to injure his good name by constantly spreading false and unjust rumors."

MANY ATTEND FUNERAL.

Timothy L. Woodruff Buried in New York.

New York, Oct. 15.—Leaders of the Progressive party and many other prominent men today attended the funeral of Timothy L. Woodruff, former Lieutenant Governor of New York.

The funeral services were held at the residence of his sister, Mrs. Rodney Ward, in Brooklyn, and at the Central Congregation church. Among the honorary pallbearers were Chauncey M. Depew, Theodore Douglas Robinson, George W. Perkins and Frank A. Munsey.

STOCK MARKET FAIRLY QUIET

Little Attention Paid to Conditions in Mexico—Prices Rise and Fall Dhring Trading. Bonds Slow.

New York, Oct. 15.—For a time today some of the ground lost by the stock market on Tuesday was retrieved, but a final hour selling movement wiped out much of the recovery.

The early improvement seemed to be predicted largely on the operations of the trading element, whose methods in these days of professional markets defy analysis.

Little attention was paid to the Mexican situation and conditions abroad were again uncertain. London's market was somewhat confused, but Berlin again was weak. London's prices for our securities were generally higher. That market bought 15,000 shares here, mainly U. S. Steel and Coppers.

The local movement embraced a variety of industrials, People's Gas gaining 3 points on announcement of increased dividend. Steel, common and preferred, American Telephone and such speculative specialties as United States Rubber, Westinghouse and local tractions rose a point or more.

New Haven was conspicuous among the railways for its two-point gain. Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, American Can and International Harvester were heavy. The local money market was inclined to harden on a better inquiry for sixty and ninety-day accommodations, although rates were nominally unchanged. Bonds were irregular, with some decline in speculative issues. United States coupon 2s rose ¼ on call. Total sales, par value, $1,800,000. Total stock sales, 314,700, including: Amalgamated Copper, 30,100; American Tobacco, 100; Chesapeake and Ohio, 800; Lehigh Valley, 3,200; Norfolk and Western, 300; Reading, 45,900; Seaboard Air Line, 100; Southern Railway, 1,800; Southern Railway, pfd., 500; Tennessee Copper, 1,200; U. STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA, NEW Hanover County.—In Justice's Court, before George Harriss, J. P.

To the Sheriff of New Hanover County; Greeting:—

Whereas, Lately in the Justice's Court in and for the County of New Hanover, at a session of said court, held on the 14th day of October, 1913, in the office of the undersigned, in the City of Wilmington, N. C., Judgment Nisi for $200.00 was rendered in favor of the State against John W. Steers and his security, to wit, the sum of $200.00 deposited as bail, according to the provisions of an act of the General Assembly, condemning bail for the personal appearance of said John W. Steers at Justice's Court, in the matter of the State against John W. Steers, then pending in said court, I therefore command you that you make known to said John W. Steers to be and to appear before the undersigned on the 25th day of Oct., 1913, at 9 o'clock A. M., and show cause, if any he has, why the $200.00 deposited by him for his appearance at said court on the 14th day of Oct., 1913, should not be condemned and paid over to the School Fund of said County, and why final judgment should not be entered against him, under said undertaking; And the undersigned having been apprised of the fact that the said John W. Steers having fled the State of North Carolina to avoid standing trial, this notice is ordered to be published in The Morning Star, a daily newspaper published in New Hanover County, notifying the said defendant John W. Steers to appear before me at 9:30 o'clock A. M., October 25, 1913, and answer said notice.

This Oct. 14, 1913.

In the proposals to create a Federal Reserve Board and to provide for the issue of government notes, Mr. Aldrich said, the bill follows a plan submitted by President Tyler to Congress in 1841, for the creation of an exchequer board. The plan, he said, found no substantial support in either branch of Congress, and went down to oblivion.

A Central Bank.

The Federal Reserve Board provided for in the Glass-Owen bill, said the speaker, in reality would bring about the creation of a central government bank. He declared the board was given autocratic powers over business of the banks. In emergencies, he asserted, the board would be powerless.

"It might be able to control elections and insures the success of a political," he said, "but in times of stress it would have no power to preserve public or private credit. It would be able to loan money to impecunious banking friends or to deposit government funds in petit banks," but it would be unable to assist a bank or a community in time of serious trouble."

Mr. Aldrich referred to the bill as socialistic in its tendencies.

"This is, I think," he said, "the first attempt to give a government board the right to manage a great business, which is more important in its intimate relations to all the people than any other. If the attempt is successful, it will be the first and most important step toward changing our form of government from a democracy to an autocracy. No imperial government in Europe would venture to suggest, much less enact legislation of this kind.

"The creation of this board clearly is a favorable response to socialistic demands."

Mr. Aldrich quoted from writings of Woodrow Wilson an extract in which he said: "Only a great commanding bank, everywhere known, whose notes really and always represented gold, could supply paper worth its face value in all places, or keep exchanges from chaos."

Advocate Change.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Changes in the administration currency bill that would give lower interest rates to the people of the newer States of the West, were advocated in the Senate Banking and Currency Committee today.

Senators Hitchcock, Democrat, and Weeks, Republican, insisted that all sections of the new country should enjoy the same rates of rediscount under the Federal reserve bank plan. They conceded that such a system undoubtedly would bring down interest rates in Western States where money is now earning high rates. Both Senators insisted, however, that all parts of the country were entitled to equal benefits under the new currency law. The bill as it passed the House would permit the Federal reserve board to fix different rates in the different reserve districts.

William H. Bucholz, of the Omaha National Bank; N. F. Bandfield, of the First National Bank of Austin, Minn.; William Ingle, of the Merchants & Mechanics' Bank of Baltimore, and Senator Thomas, of Colorado, were before the committee during the day's hearing.

Mr. Bucholz declared that many of the bankers of Nebraska opposed the administration bill as it now stands; and that many National banks in that State were preparing to resign their charters and become State banks unless some of the desired changes were made in the pending bill.

A plan to issue government bonds that would be exchangeable at all times for a special form of currency, was presented to the committee by Senator Thomas. The plan was drawn by William A. Amberg, of Chicago.

Mr. Banfield, representing country bankers, urged the committee to change the bill so that farm mortgages running five years could be taken by banks as security for loans. The bill now limits such mortgages to one year and the amount of such loans to 25 per cent. of a bank's capital and surplus.

General principles of the bill were endorsed by Mr. Ingle. He suggested several minor changes, however. He defended the recent confernc at Boston, and denied any "conspiracy" to oppose the measure.

Senators Tillman, Hughes and Martine today brought to the White House advices that prospects for speedy action on the currency bill were growing.

"I came to urge President Wilson to run the freight train over obstructionists holding up the bill," said Senator Tillman.

Mr. Aldrich also quoted from Mr. Wilson's history of the United States: "It (the constitution) expressly forbade the State to issue bills of credit, did not give the Federal government power to do so and was meant practically to prohibit the use of any currency which was not, at least based directly upon gold and silver."

"This should be a fight in the open," said Mr. Aldrich. "The party in power has no accredited mission to fly in the face of the concurrent judgment of the people of every commercial nation, based on universal experience."

Mr. Aldrich was the only speaker at tonight's session of the conference.

Claim Bill Dangerous.

New York, Oct. 15.—The Glass-Owen Currency bill was attacked as dangerous and unscientific at today's session of the National Conference on Currency Reform. Prof. E. R. A. Seligman, of Columbia University, Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City Bank, of New York, and Prof. Joseph Frank Johnson, dean of the New York University School of Commerce, led the assault.

Prof. Seligman said that the great successful banking systems of Europe were framed not by politicians, but by the joint efforts of bankers and theorists, and for that reason Germany, France and England were a generation ahead of this country in these matters.

"We cannot refrain from expressing regret," said Prof. Seligman, "that in this country alone the question should be approached, not from the point of view of the interest of the whole country, but from the view of one political party. We have not been able to rise above party.

"I must voice, in the name of the Academy of Political Science, my very pronounced disappointment that in some of the fundamental features of this bill, no attempt has been made to follow the teachings of sound theory. The bill shines in a glaring way in some of the fundamental principles of science.

Mr. Vanderlip defended the principal of Federal bank as opposed to the 12 regional associations contemplated in the Glass-Owen bill. He said the best minds in Congress must know that, were it not for a party platform they should provide for a central bank.

Prof. Johnson characterized the bill as dangerous. "I see no escape from the conclusion," said he "that the Glass-Owen bill, if it becomes a law, will soon bring this country into a period of dangerous credit extension."

Prof. Johnson predicted that this situation would ultimately lead to a panic.

SUIT AGAINST WOODMEN.

Killed by a Bullet Fired by Excited Candidate of Order.

Charleston, S. C., Oct. 15.—Or interest to members of the order of Woodmen of the World throughout the country and to the general public as well, on account of its unusual nature, is a suit brought by S. P. Taylor, as administrator of the estate of Samuel M. Taylor, against Sovereign Camp, Woodmen of the World. In brief, the plaintiff is suing the order for $20,000 damages resulting from the death of his son, who was mortally wounded with a pistol by a candidate who was being initiated into an order near Honea Path, in Anderson county, last year. The case will be tried in the United States district court at Greenville at the term which convenes there next Tuesday. The complaint and other papers in the case have been filed in the office of the clerk of the district court in this city.

The plaintiff alleges that on July 26, 1912, Saluda Camp, No. 262, Woodmen of the World, being located near Honea Path, in Anderson county, proceeded with the initiation of one C. F. Bagwell; that the deceased Samuel M. Taylor, assisted in the ceremonies; that he, with others of the initiating party fired blank cartridges at the candidate, as a part of the ceremony; that Bagwell, not knowing that blank cartridges were being fired at him and believing himself to be in great danger of sustaining bodily injuries or death, procured his own pistol, which was loaded with ball cartridges, and fired upon those who were iniating him; that the deceased was struck by one of the balls from Bagwell's pistol, and died of injuries then and there received, death occurring July 29th, three days later. The plaintiff further alleges that the man, Bagwell, was tried for murder in the court of general sessions at Anderson and acquitted.

FIVE HUNDRED PRESENT.

At American Gas Institute at Richmond, Virginia.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 15.—More than 500 delegates to the eighth annual convention of the American Gas Institute were formally welcomed here today by Mayor Ainslie, who was introduced by W. R. Addicks, of New York, president of the association.

Charles M. Cohn, of Baltimore, vice president, responded.

The convention then busied itself with committee and official reports.

The American Gas Institute today selected New York as the next convention city and re-affirmed its plan to meet at San Francisco in 1915, when an international gas congress will be held. Officers were elected as follows:

W. H. Martley, Philadelphia, president; William E. McKay, Boston, first vice president; Rufus C. Dawes, Chicago, second vice president; George G. Ramsdell, New York, secretary-treasurer.

Directors: Paul Doty, St. Paul; Carl H. Graf, Indianapolis; Warren S. Blauvelt, Detroit; A. E. Forstall, New York; Carroll Miller, Providence, R. I.; E. C. Jones, San Francisco; Robt. M. Searle, Rochester, N. Y.; G. R. Macbeth, Mount Vernon, N. Y.; and H. L. Rice, Aurora, N. Y.

President W. R. Allicks, of New York, in his annual address, said that 90 per cent gas now sold was used for cooking and heating rather than for lighting and that government and public service commission requirements should be changed from candle power units to heat units, a change which would permit of a reduction in the cost and the production of an article more nearly suited to the purpose for which it is to be used.

ALL HOPE GIVEN UP.

Of Rescuing the Four Hundred Entombed Miners.

Cardiff, Wales, Oct. 15.—All hope of rescuing more of the miners entombed in the Universal colliery, where an explosion occurred yesterday, virtually has been abandoned.

The report that a party of 29 men had been found alive in one of the galleries has proved erroneous, but a large number of dead bodies were found today.

No official reports have been issued and this has caused much comment. Fire broke out anew this afternoon and is still raging. There are no further signs of life in the pit. Up to a late hour tonight 49 bodies had been recovered, while 368 miners still were entombed. The shift which went into the mine yesterday numbered 931.

CANAL EXCAVATIONS.

Removal of Extensive Slides Explanation of Them.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Removal of the extensive slides is the accepted explanation for the heavy excavations in the Panama canal during September. The total amount was 1,922,713 cubic yards, as compared with 2,658,785 yards in August.

The work of placing concrete in the locks and approaches is nearly finished and the 5,710 yards laid in September was mainly used in putting the finishing touches to the great masses of concrete already in place.

GATE CITY AFFAIRS.

Fair Well Under Way—Greensboro College—Fight on Mosquito.

Greensboro, N. C., Oct. 15—The second day of the Central Carolina Fair brought large crowds of visitors to Greensboro and the fair grounds were crowded with people this afternoon. The racing events this afternoon were the best of the week, and tonight a big fireworks exhibit was given in front of the grandstand. Several special features were offered, including two flights by the bi-plane man and athletic contests in front of the grandstand. The midway did a big business. Tomorrow will probably be the big day of the week, with Friday following as a close second. On Friday all white school children of the county will be admitted free, and these with their parents will no doubt make it one of the big days of the exhibition.

The administration of the Greensboro College for Women announces that on Thursday, November 6th, Dr. S. B. Turrentine, the new president, will be formally installed. Big preparations are being made for this event. The trustees will hold their regular meeting on Wednesday, the 5th.

Dr. J. T. J. Battle, who led the fight on the mosquito in Greensboro this Summer with such rare ability and success, has just gathered an interesting bit of statistics. He canvassed all of the people of the city who sold mosquito canopies and found that this year they sold just 32, while during the season last year they sold 376, or more than eleven times this year. This fact Dr. Battle regards proves that the campaign was well worth while.

Mrs. Stella Woodall Geaham, 73 years of age, who had been four times married, died last night at her home here and the funeral was held this afternoon at Zink's chapel, three miles in the country. Interment was in the church burying ground. Though married four times, no husband survives, but there are several surviving children. Death followed an illness of only a few hours.

CARING FOR MISSIONARIES.

Seventh Day Adventists Organize a Pension System.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Old age pensions and sick benefits for several thousand missionary workers of the Seventh Day Adventists were assured, it was announced today, through action taken by the general and North American conference of the denomination, in the session in Takoma Park, a suburb. Missionary laborers throughout the world, working in the interests of the sect, will be eligible to draw upon the fund, as will be their dependents.

In addition for the caring for the missionary and other workers in their old age or in sickness, the fund will be used in case of their death, to look after their widows and children. Plans for the collection of the necessary money to insure the success of the venture were approved before the announcement of the plan was made. The innovation is regarded as unique in the field of missionary endeavor.

AFTER THE LUMBER TRUST.

Government Files Suit in the Supreme Court.

Washington, Oct. 15.—The government filed its brief in the lumber trust case today in the Supreme Court. It was prepared by G. Carroll Todd, assistant to the attorney general, and marks another stage in the action under the Sherman anti-trust law against a number of associations of retail lumber dealers, throughout Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland and the District of Columbia.

The associations are appealing from the southern district court of New York which held the retailers to be violators of the anti-trust law and enjoined the further distribution of black lists against boycotted wholesalers who sell directly to consumers.

RESINOL STOPS SKIN TORMENTS

How This Wonderful Ointment Ends Itching and Heals Skin Eruptions.

The soothing, healing medication in Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap penetrates every tiny pore of the skin, clears it of all impurities, and stops itching instantly. Resinol positively speedily heals eczema, rashes, ringworm, and other eruptions, and clears away disfiguring pimples and blackheads, when other treatments prove worse than useless.

Resinol is not an experiment. It is a doctor's prescription which proved so wonderfully successful for skin troubles that it has been used by other doctors all over the country for eighteen years. No other treatment for the skin now before the public can show such a record of professional approval. Every druggist sells Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap, but you can test them at our expense Just write to Dept. 7-M, Resinol, Baltimore, Md., and we will send you by parcel post a generous trial of each, with the two new Resinol Books.

FIVE HUNDRED MORE.

Alaska Storm Leaves Many Homeless and Destitute.

Nome, Alaska, Oct. 15.—Five hundred or more persons—including many women and children,—are destitute, victims of the recent storm, and urgently in need of help, according to conclusions reached by Capt. Ballinger, of the revenue cutter service, who attended a meeting of the relief committee here today.

Only $10,000 for the relief fund has been received from the outside and all this has been disbursed.

Miners who have worked the beach sands here for gold think likely that the storm that destroyed half of this city, drove ashore gold bearing sands that will more than pay for the damage done.

OFFICERS RIDING TEST.

Start in Tomorrow to Prove Their Horsemanship.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Great activity marked the day in Fort Myer, and there was a hurried overhauling of saddles and other horse gear, for tomorrow nearly two score officers will start on their annual ordeal—the 90-mile compulsory ride, inaugurated by President Roosevelt to demonstrate the physical fitness of the army men who wear the epaulettes.

A number of officers who have straddled nothing more strenuous than a swivel chair in the past year are looking forward to tomorrow's dawn with apprehension. Brig. Gen. A. L. Mills, of the general staff of the army, will be in command of the cavalcadc.

BRIBERY CHARGE.

Tennessee Senator Declares He Was Offered Money.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 15.—A committee of the Tennessee Senate today began investigation of allegations by Senator Hare that an attempt was made to bribe him to absent himself from the present extraordinary session.

The investigation was begun at the request of Hare, who declared on the floor of the Senate that he had been offered $2,500 to absent himself from the Senate while the pending law enforcement bills were under consideration.

DON'T WAIT!

Until you have saved a large sum of money before putting it in bank, but deposit the small amounts and let them save themselves.

Take the nickels and dimes, the quarters and halves out of your pockets, and put them in bank, where they will be safe from thieves and fires, and away from the danger of useless spending.

This small change will open an account with us, and we pay you four per cent. to save it.

Remember, the small account is welcome here.

HOME SAVINGS BANK

ORTON BUILDING.

BITS OF HISTORY.

Discovery of America

On the 12th day of October, 1492, Columbus was watching on the deck when land was sighted and at 2 A. M. the Island of Guanahani spread before him. His troubles were over and he had many. His crew had been in a mutinous state to throw him overboard.

If any man will fight the battles of life as they come to him with the same dogged determination which Columbus exhibited, his success will be assured.

Money will overcome most of our troubles and we will all have it if we exercise patience and reef our expenses at the proper time.

On what you save this Bank allows 4 per cent. interest compounded quarterly.
